FIREMEN AND AMBULANCE BOTH GET FALSE SUMMONS; ARRIVE AT VACANT HOUSE

Concerted Effort Now Under Way To Arrest False Alarm Sender

Believe Woman Is Responsible For Double Alarm Sunday Evening

New Castle's epidemic of false alarms to the fire department has been extended to the city's ambulance service.

The department, headed by Fire Chief Lynn, is scouring the city for the woman or girl who Sunday evening threw firemen and pedestrians in the peaceful Franklin and Stanton avenue district into throes of excitement by sending simultaneous calls to Fire Station No. 4 and to R. Loy Boyd, North Jefferson street funeral director.

It was the fifth false fire alarm in the past two weeks.

Woman Calls

Sunday's night of excitement for the fire department started at about 8:10 p. m., when Ralph Blewitt, fireman at No. 4 received a telephone call from an excited woman or girl who said a "bad" fire was in progress at 931 Franklin avenue. The person announced she was "Mrs. Howard Duncan".

A few minutes earlier R. Loy Boyd received a telephone call from apparently the same person, who said that a "bad accident" occurred at 931 Franklin avenue and that an ambulance was needed, as someone had been badly hurt. In order to make certain he had the right location, Boyd questioned the caller a second time and was told again that the address was 931 Franklin avenue.

The ambulance and fire apparatus, the chemical and hose truck from No. 4, B. truck from Central and the chief's roadster, dashed away to the scene of the supposed accident.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Sunday was one of those record traffic days. It was ideal for traveling—everyone seemed to think so, for every highway was crowded with automobiles. Pa New observed quite a few roadsters with the tops down and the rumblers occupied.

Pa New saw a freak trick of nature Sunday at East Brook. The wire fence at one side of the Dr. Kissinger property goes completely through the center of a tree about the size of a telegraph pole. Years ago the fence must have been nailed to the young tree and as the tree grew larger it enveloped the fence wires.

When there is as much traffic on the highways as there was yesterday, there are bound to be accidents. The highway patrolmen were kept mighty busy Sunday with minor accidents and several ones.

Perhaps it is only imagination, but nature's scenery seems more beautiful this year than ever before. Pa New has heard many exclamations of wonder at the beauty of the trees this fall, which are now resplendent with vivid colors.

If there is anything rarer than a day in June, it is a day in October. Weather during the past week has been most wonderful, with its cool evenings and warm days of just the right temperature.

Civilians are still going in strong for horse back riding. The Troop F horses are being used right along and the riders are getting quite expert.

Observed a mother, father and two children walking up Mercer street Saturday afternoon, each one of them were attired in green. The children were identically the same (Continued On Page Two)

Henderson Home Entered Sunday

Family Absent And Home Is Found Ransacked From Top To Bottom

Home of Mrs. H. H. Henderson, Lincoln and Highland avenues, was entered during the night by thieves, evidently seeking something of value. The fact that the place had been entered was discovered by the caretaker in charge in the absence of Mrs. Henderson and daughter, Miss Florence, and the police notified.

Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Charles Longstreth investigated this morning and found that entrance had been gained by breaking a side window. Evidence was found that the thieves had been in every part of the house. The caretaker informed the police that there was nothing missing as far as he could determine.

Police Question Show Girl About Diamond Shooting

Beautiful Show Girl With Jack "Legs" Diamond Prior To Shooting Grilled

NEW JERSEY CAR USED BY GUNMEN

Difference Of Opinion As To Number Of Gunmen—Diamond Withholds Information

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Miss Marian Roberts, beautiful twenty-year Broadway show girl, was grilled by police for hours early today in connection with the mysterious and perhaps fatal shooting of Jack ("Legs") Diamond, super-gangster and racketeer, and former body-guard of the slain Arnold Rothstein.

Diamond is dying in Polyclinic hospital. He was shot five times and left for dead by two gunmen as he sat in his pajamas in his room in the Hotel Monticello, in West Sixty Fourth street near Broadway, shortly before noon Sunday. In some respects the shooting of Diamond paralleled the shooting of Rothstein who was "plugged" in room 348 of the Park Central hotel, less than a mile away, on the night of November 4, 1928.

Girl Questioned
Miss Roberts, a slim, titian-haired girl with large, luminous eyes, occupied room 831 of the Hotel Monticello. Diamond was shot in room 829, almost adjoining. She admitted that Diamond had been in her room before the shooting and said she was taking a bath when the shooting occurred.

"I seized a towel or something and ran out just like that to the stairway. Then I crouched and hid until the (gunmen) ran past me down the stairs."

Detectives had found Diamond's clothes hanging in her wardrobe. They were told by George Kameo, a Japanese waiter in the hotel, that he had brought an order of coffee and orange juice at 8:30 in the morning—several hours before the shooting—to room 831 to a man in pajamas, whom he identified from photographs as Diamond.

Telephone Call Cues
Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney personally questioned Miss Roberts. He was extremely interested in reports that a New Jersey telephone call was made from the hotel shortly before the shooting. The fact that the gunmen's car carried a New Jersey license caused authorities to regard the call as perhaps significant.

The girl was apprehended by the homicide squad men last night in the apartment of Agnes O'Laughlin. (Continued On Page Five)

British Woman Flier Seeking New Speed Mark

Mrs. Keith Miller, British Woman Flier, Starts Across Country Today

HOPES TO LOWER PRESENT RECORD

(International News Service)
CURTIS AIRPORT, VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Oct. 13.—In an attempt to lower the transcontinental record for women fliers, Mrs. Keith Miller, British aviatrix, hopped off from here at 6:30 o'clock this morning for Indianapolis, the first leg of her flight.

The record, thirty and one half hours, is held by Laura Ingalls. Her ship is a 165-horse powered monoplane, with top speed of 145 miles an hour. She carried 100 gallons of gasoline. Mrs. Miller hoped to reach Indianapolis in six hours. She will refuel there and fly to Wichita, Kan. to remain overnight. Tomorrow she planned to continue to Los Angeles hoping to make the total coast to coast flight in 20 hours. Reaching Los Angeles Mrs. Miller planned the return trip with a single stop at Wichita.

Hundreds From County At Eucharistic Rally

Several hundred men, including quite a number of priests from the Lawrence county district were participants Sunday evening in the eucharistic day rally held in Forbes field, Pittsburgh, under the auspices of the Diocesan Holy Name society. It was an honor that seldom occurs and had never previously occurred in the Pittsburgh diocese, being the greatest gathering of any kind in the history of the city of Pittsburgh.

More than 50,000 men participated. Not all the immense throng could get inside Forbes field and thousands of worshippers stood in the nearby streets taking part in the greatest demonstration of religious faith that has ever been held in this section of the country.

The stands of the field were crowded at 6 o'clock in the evening, an hour before the service got under way. Immense throngs were then admitted to the field, just leaving space enough about the immense and beautiful altar that had been erected, to permit Bishop O'Reilly of Scranton, the speaker, and Bishop Boyle, 400 priests and hundreds of altar boys to get about the altar.

The singing by this immense throng was of wonderful character and the scene of beauty and devotion created as the lights were put out and all these men, even those standing far out on nearby streets, stood with lighted candles and recited their Holy Name pledge, is indescribable, except to say that it was most inspiring.

Every parish of the county was represented and among the priests of the district attending were Rev. Herman A. Seidel of Beaver Falls, dean of the district; Rev. P. S. Clifford and Rev. J. Dudley Nee of St. Mary's, Rev. Anthony Scholz of St. Margaret's, Rev. Joseph Doerr of St. Joseph's, Rev. V. Stancilewski of St. Philip and James, Rev. N. DeMita of St. Vitus, Rev. Bejewski of Madonna parish and others.

FASCIST SALUTE IS EXCHANGED

Reorganization Of Reichstag May Prove Most Momentous In Recent Years

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—Violent clashes between Fascist sympathizers and police occurred today when the newly-elected German Reichstag met after a parliamentary hiatus of three months.

For the first time in the history of Germany, the Fascist salute of the raised right arm was exchanged as the 107 Fascist members, attired in their costumes of high leather boots, military trousers and brown shirts, filed in and took their places as the second largest body in the Reichstag.

Crowds Surge Wildly
As the session, which may prove to be one of the most momentous in recent years, was being called to order, thousands of Fascists massed in the streets outside in formation and surged toward the Reichstag. Police armed with night-sticks charged them repeatedly.

The crowd retreated in disorder several times, booing and whistling as they were pushed back into the side streets surrounding the Parliamentary building. Several times they advanced, on each occasion meeting nightstick blows dealt by police. Several were injured and fifteen arrested.

While only a roll call had been scheduled for today, with adjournment until Wednesday immediately afterward, the economic party seized the bull by the horns by introducing a resolution announcing its opposition to the government of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning. The resolution called for the resignation (Continued On Page Five)

Cleveland Slayer Commits Suicide In His Jail Cell

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13.—Rather than face death in the electric chair Tony Colletto, 21, confessed slayer of his 18-year-old bride, Mrs. Christina Colletto, hanged himself in "murderer's row" of county jail here today.

Colletto's body was found by one of his cell mates, Frank Brancate, alleged bootleg slayer.

It was the most picturesque religious service in Pittsburgh's history. A choir numbering 3,000 voices, sang sonorous Latin hymns while 400 priests and monks grouped themselves around the huge golden bowl where the celebration took place. The blessed sacrament was borne to the field in an automobile which had never been driven before, the interior of the automobile being converted into a replica of white chapel in which the host rested at St. Paul's Cathedral.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Pennsylvania's boiling political campaign, in which old-line Republican stalwarts are bolting Gifford Pinchot and enlisting under the liberal-Democratic banner of John M. Hemphill, is engaging the attention of party leaders in Washington as probably no other single contest in the November elections.

This is true notwithstanding that the Pinchot-Hemphill battle is for the governorship of Pennsylvania, with no national issues involved, and thus is essentially a matter of state rather than of national concern. Washington Gasp
Senator William E. Borah's suggestion of a senatorial investigation to determine whether "great public utilities" are spending money to defeat Pinchot made Washington literally gasp.

So far as is known this is the first time it has ever been seriously suggested that the United States Senate should arrogate to itself powers to investigate a purely state election. It is true there is also a senatorial election in Pennsylvania, but no one is bolting Secretary James J. Davis, who is Pinchot's senatorial runningmate. And the so-called interests are not accused of spending money to defeat him. Therefore the proposed investigation (Continued On Page Two)

It was the Fourth of July. Two boys, both minors, were discussing so-called patriotic plan with which to celebrate the day of independence. Soon the older boy suggested that the other get his father's revolver and some bullets and that they go out in back of the house and shoot. The younger boy carried out the suggestion, and both of them started around to the rear.

While walking the younger boy began examining the revolver, loaded it, and then while he was again sticking it into his pocket, accidentally pulled the trigger. The revolver discharged and the bullet entered the hip of the older boy, caused him immediate pain, and necessitated a surgical operation later. After the older boy recovered his parents filed suit in his behalf.

At the trial the attorney for the younger boy admitted that it was illegal for the boy to carry the revolver, but argued that the older boy was guilty of contributory negligence since it was he who suggested the entire business.

Do you know what day Sunday was? Speak up bright ones! It was the anniversary of the discovery of America, in 1492.

Nineteen days until Halloween!

We See At A Glance

That several youths figured Sunday wasn't too cool for a refreshing plunge in the old Neshaunock. Saw them up above the paper mill.

That political placards again are beginning to litter the trees all along the highways.

That most of New Castle's European tourists have returned from abroad. The Oberammergau Passion Play has ended and other summer attractions are gone.

That McConnell's Mills has every resemblance of a county fair these fine Sundays, considering the number of cars and scenery lovers there.

That cider seems to be plentiful at nearly every roadside stand. Farmers post large signs, hoping thirsty motorists will stop.

That scores of automobiles don't carry other state approval stickers. That electric light, gas and all the other conveniences are being provided for more and more homes in the remotest sections of the county. Saw several new lines Sunday.

That guard rails haven't been placed along the hills on the Portersville-Harmony end of the Perry highway yet.

Seems as though nearly every college in the country took part in football games on Saturday. Some of the best teams were pitted against others almost as good. No doubt the schedule was one of the finest dishes offered so far this season to fans all over the country.

Scott Paisley and Owen Penfield Fox, known as New Castle's traveling sightseers report they've started their homeward jaunt from the far-off Pacific coast. The two, motoring alone, expect to take about two weeks returning.

Some idea of how warm it was for football on Saturday can be gained by the fact that many of the spectators at the Allegheny-Westminster game actually got sunburned while sitting in the stands watching the game.

The newly planted shrubbery on the lawn of the First Christian church is proving an attraction to many. The planting is part of the re-decoration scheme on the church building and property.

Pa New thought he was seeing things Sunday night, when he saw the headlights of a machine, apparently coming at him from the wrong side of the street on Highland avenue. On getting closer, he found it was a flier of the type which will not go up hill when the gas is low, and the owner was backing up.

GOVERNOR FIGHT IN PENNSYLVANIA STIRS CAPITAL INTEREST

tion would concern itself only with Pinchot's case—a rare and unprecedented thing for the Senate to attempt.

There are even those constitutional authorities who question the Senate's right to investigate a senatorial primary and to exclude duly elected members such as was done in the Newberry, Smith and Vandewater cases. For the Senate must consider probing a gubernatorial contest involving no federal office is a radical advance from all hitherto conceived relationships between the national and state governments.

Borah States Position

Borah puts his suggestion on the grounds that the "interests," meaning railroads and utilities, are engaging in politics, and that these expenditures, if any, are rightly a matter of federal concern since the federal government exercises control over the railroads and utilities through regulatory bodies which limit the profits and control the rates which the utilities take from the public.

"If Borah is quoted as saying, 'these companies, which are engaged in interstate commerce, and whose expenses and expenditures are always a matter of public concern and within the jurisdiction of the national government, are engaging in politics, in the sense they are using money, which money necessarily must come from the rate payers, then it ought to be investigated, and I shall do what I can to see that an investigation is had.'"

Attorney Scored

The chief Republican bolter of the Pinchot candidacy to date, and the person to whom Borah referred, is General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, who resigned his office as Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania last week because he "could not support Pinchot."

Since Atterbury's bolt almost the entire Philadelphia county organization, 47 out of 48 district leaders, have followed his lead and announced their support of Hemphill. The enormous vote of Philadelphia usually decides elections in Pennsylvania.

Borah's threat of senatorial interference in the Pennsylvania situation was accepted here today as a direct thrust at Atterbury, who has been savagely criticized by Borah on more than one occasion.

In the bitter fight over the confirmation of Albert L. Watson as federal judge in the middle district of Pennsylvania last session Borah denounced Atterbury's occupying the office of Republican national committeeman at a time when he was occupying a national position in the Pennsylvania railroad. Borah derided Atterbury's holding both offices as "politically indecent."

Among other things, Watson's nomination bore the imprint of Atterbury's approval as national committeeman, and Borah was quick to point out that the Pennsylvania railroad is frequently a litigant in the federal courts of Pennsylvania.

Finds Little Favor

Not many could be found on Capitol Hill today who would say they agreed with Borah's theory of opposing a gubernatorial election contest. The "states' rights" advocates steered that once such a precedent would be established, there would be virtually no end to the Senate's investigating activities.

Southern Democrats, who have always resented federal activity in southern elections or in southern politics, where the one-party system prevails, were particularly shy of the proposal.

FIREMEN AND AMBULANCE BOTH GET FALSE ALARMS

the traffic was at its heaviest on Washington street at the time the run was made by his department.

Find Empty House

When the apartment and ambulance arrived it was discovered that there was no need for either and that 931 was an empty house on Franklin avenue, according to Chief Lynn.

Fire Chief Lynn and Capt. John Clark of No. 4 immediately made an attempt to trace the telephone call, but were unsuccessful.

The address on Franklin street had been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Franklin, who at the present time reside on Lathrop street.

"It is just a miracle that there was no accident to the fire trucks or ambulance making this call," Chief Lynn said today.

He added that "some drastic measure will have to be taken in this matter of sending false alarms, as it has been extended to the ambulance service as well as to the fire department."

The last bogus alarm to the fire department, believed to have been sent by a girl, was received through Box 62, Grant and Simpson streets last Tuesday evening. A witness last was interviewed by Chief Lynn declared he saw two girls ringing the alarm and speeding up Simpson street, when fire apparatus approached. One of the girls, is alleged to have said:

"Come on, let's get out of here."

The fourth false alarm, received Friday evening from the box at Falls and East streets, when traffic was at its height, endangered the lives of firemen from Central Station who made the run through the business district.

MOISTURE WINDS AND CLEARING WINDS IN MIDDLE ATLANTIC STATES

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

R. L. SCRANTON, Pa.—Winds that are usually accompanied by rain develop in areas of low barometric pressure. The atmosphere of such an area through rise of temperature, expands, becomes lighter, consequently rises to higher altitudes pushed upward by the cooler heavier air rushing in from all directions along the ground, flowing in spirally anti-clockwise, carrying moisture with it. Such air mechanics are the vehicles of rain. Some of these wind formations come into the Middle Atlantic states from the Gulf of Mexico, but more of them from the west and northwest. The clearing winds are the high barometric pressure winds from upper altitudes, consequently are not moisture laden.

WATERS ASKED TO ASSUME CHARGE OF PINCHOT CAMPAIGN

week at which 47 of the 48 leaders decided to support Hemphill.

Will Likely Accept

Waters will announce his decision today, but inasmuch as he has been a strong supporter of Pinchot he is expected to accept the post.

County Councilman Charles B. Hall, State Senator Samuel Salus and Councilman Harry Trainer last week announced their active support of Hemphill. They declared they would not support the remainder of the ticket. Pinchot, upholder of the meeting called by Hazlett and the result of the caucus called upon the county chairman to resign his post or be "fired."

Martin answered Pinchot's demand by a hurried trip here Sunday and after several hours' conference announced he had asked Waters to assume the post. He also declared that the county chairman of the other 68 counties of the state are standing steadfast for the whole ticket. He asserted in Venango county "a certain man had resigned from a county chairmanship which he never started."

Start Lining Up

The "certain man" in Venango county was believed in political circles here to refer to Marshall Phipps who announced his "resignation" a few days ago.

While awaiting Waters' decision Martin and Mayor Harry A. Mackey turned their attention towards rounding up recalcitrant Republicans and bringing them into line for Pinchot.

In the meantime Charles A. Ambler of Abington, director of the Brown-Davis campaign in Montgomery county in the recent primary, also fell into line. In a vigorous statement Ambler flayed all the bolters from the Republicans, especially Councilman Hall, and announced his intention of supporting Pinchot and the entire Republican ticket.

ed that the goal will be neared when all reports are in Tuesday.

Many teams still have a number of additional prospects to see on their list yet, many of whom are known to be good contributors.

A group of patriotic women have been soliciting in the homes of the city, where a number of additional subscriptions have been picked up which will also be added to the total to be reported tomorrow.

From all sources it is hoped that at least $5,000 will be added to the total previously turned in, which will bring the figure close to the goal of $61,500.

Tonight's meeting will be in charge of the campaign chairman, Judge James A. Chambers, and the future policy of the campaign will be discussed at this time.

White To Attend Codification Meet

Codification of all the laws affecting Third Class cities in Pennsylvania is "the bologna."

Notwithstanding this council today instructed City Solicitor Robert White to attend the Harrisburg meetings, Wednesday and Thursday.

Today White told sons that the city solicitors were to meet with the legislative reference bureau at Harrisburg.

"A new code is being arranged for presentation to the legislature. I'm opposed to it but what are you going to do?" asked White.

"I'm opposed to it, too," remarked Councilman Burns.

White said that each Third class city solicitor would be present. Council believed it wise, anyway, to send White to the session.

As explained today in council all the Third Class city laws are being collected, assembled and put in one act.

Someone characterized the condition as "the bologna" showing that slang is not entirely sans from councilmanic meetings.

WEDDING OF INTEREST PERFORMED SATURDAY

A pretty wedding was performed Saturday morning at the parsonage of St. Margaret's church when Hannah Gertrude Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Evans of West Madison avenue was united in marriage to Richard Gwilym, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gwilym of Lyndal street. The Rev. A. P. Scholz officiated with the ring ceremony.

The bride was lovely in blue chiffon velvet with egg-shell trimmings, with hat to match, and wore a shoulder corsage of Johanna Hill. She also had to complete her costume, a bracelet worn by her mother at her wedding. Miss Mamie McAuley of Pittsburgh, who was chosen as maid of honor, was attired in brown satin trimmed in egg-shell with gold turban hat. Her shoulder corsage was made up of Briar Cliff roses. Walter Gwilym served his brother as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a dinner and reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with fifty guests participating. The bride's table had places laid for 12 with a large wedding cake appropriately decorated and topped with a miniature bride and groom forming the centerpiece. The appointments were carried out in yellow and white color scheme, with tall yellow tapers in crystal holders and baby chrysanthemums being tastefully used on each table.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Gwilym left by motor on a honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and New York City. For traveling the bride wore an ensemble of brown with accessories to match.

The bride is a graduate of the local Senior High school class of '22 and has been employed at the Lehigh Portland Cement Company as stenographer since that time, and the groom is a graduate of the Pittsburgh High school and is holding a responsible position in the office of the New Castle Sheet and Tin Plate Company.

Upon their return home after October 20 they will reside with the bride's parents for the present.

Guests were in attendance from Youngstown, O., Cleveland, O., Pittsburgh, Oil City, and Sharon.

Crime Never Pays

MAY NEED VIGILANTES

WITH the epidemic of false alarms of fire that have been sending the firemen chasing here and there about the city recently, it may become necessary for the citizens of the city to take on the role of Vigilantes, to apprehend the parties responsible.

It is not enough to say that probably those who are sending in the alarms are boys or girls who do not realize the seriousness of their offense. The practice must be stopped.

It would be well for all parents to warn their children about the situation, and it might be well for those who are responsible for these false alarms to recall that a prison sentence was served by one youth in this city in the past few years for sending in false alarms of fire.

There is no excuse for sending in false fire alarms, and if this practice is not stopped at once, a widespread organization in the city should be formed to keep under surveillance the fire alarm boxes and determine who is guilty of the practice.

Sending in false alarms of fire is an offense against the community, as well as a practice endangering the life of the firemen, and possible damage to the apparatus.

There will be no leniency in dealing with the offenders, once they are apprehended, it can be taken for granted.

MAN LIVING LONGER

Scientific proof that civilized man is living longer and that the infant mortality rate is being lowered should occasion no amazement, for the factors behind them are quite commonplace.

For instance, there are the 6,665 hospitals providing 907,133 beds and 47,939 bassinets in the United States. Medicine has made marked progress. Physicians and surgeons are better trained and have more to work with. And there is public sanitation, pure milk and water, pure and nourishing food and enlightenment in the use of food, higher living standards, better housing and working conditions, accident prevention, public health agencies of proved efficacy in the prevention of epidemics, modern plumbing, better ventilating methods and other contributing factors evidence of which can be found on all sides.

Every citizen who avails himself of these aids to co-operation in accepting vaccination and other forms of immunization, in submitting to quarantine, in maintaining sanitary and healthful conditions, and in keeping informed on matters of diet, health and hygiene has made possible much of this progress. Without that co-operation medicine and public health services would have made little headway.

Man, fearing death, aspires to longer life on this earth and eagerly accepts each addition to the average span of life, but he is not content with life alone. He wants a life free of pain and sickness, and that also is being given him in increasing degree.

FORESTS SHOW DROUGHT EFFECTS

October's tide of mountain travel, to enjoy the forests in the autumnal glory needs the state department's timely reminder about fires. Special emphasis is given this year because the drought still lingers in Pennsylvania, creating a precarious situation. Conditions are ripe for a devastation this fall as appalling as the visitation which last spring wrought its gravest forest fire tragedy in New Jersey.

Delightful annual pilgrimages which the automobile has made increasingly possible provide satisfactions, it must not be forgotten, partly offset by increasing responsibilities. The charred woodland with its desiccated stream, sterile of vegetable, animal and water life, is a warning against carelessness that robs posterity more cruelly than it inconveniences ourselves.

Where the forests have escaped the effects of the water scarcity they have in turn aided the conservation of the water supply. A state survey indicates that towns with well-timbered watersheds have had less fire in the desert. Five are mentioned, Chambersburg, Shipensburg, South Renovo, Waynesboro and Mount Alto. Fifteen other municipalities have 50 per cent of their watersheds within state forests. Throughout the state no less than seventy-four brooks protected by forest sources are free of contamination. A fire would quickly destroy these defenses against pollution.

Caution is urged, therefore, on all state tourists not only in groves scared by lack of rain, but also in those where stored moisture is sustaining humanity in the valleys below.

Civilization seems to be a frantic search to find a substitute for some substitute.

No one can map out your life for you because no one has been where you are going.

Panic, Foolish Word.

Stalin's Stake.

The Busy Rum Demon.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

The world didn't come to an end, Friday, after all.

When 3 o'clock struck Broad and Wall streets were still joined together at the corner where the Stock Exchange looks on Morgan & Co., and they both look on the Sub-Treasury.

Steel decided to go up instead of down and incidentally, those that sell good American stocks short now will eventually wish that a millstone had been tied about their necks and they thrown into the depths of the sea.

The word "panic," one of the most disagreeable in the language, sending a chill to the soul of gamblers and sound businessmen alike, is, as panics themselves usually are, based on meaningless fear.

The god Pan, with shoulders and arms of a man, legs of a goat, was heard howling in the woods, causing among the people Pan fear, hence our word panic.

What they really heard was the wind howling in caves or woods. There wasn't any Pan.

There isn't any Pan now in the United States, with its wealth and gigantic resources of gold and other money unimpaired.

But the bears do the howling, and fear does the rest.

We need the angel, minutely described by Mohammed, who saw the angel in the seventh heaven, on that famous midnight trip.

According to Mohammed, the angel had 70,000 heads, each with 70,000 mouths, each mouth had 70,000 tongues, each tongue spoke 70,000 different languages, and all were incessantly employed chanting the praises of the most high.

But even that angel, however, with his 70,000 times 70,000 tongues, multiplied by 70,000 languages, wouldn't be able to comfort some of the frightened pessimists.

Mr. Gilbert, careful observer in Washington, says Stalin, Russia's ruler, has "staked everything on the five-year plan." If the five-year periods ends with Russia not changed from a medieval agricultural to a modern industrial state, Stalin will fall and Russia will have another revolution.

To make accurate predictions about Russia is hard and the five-year plan will not fail sufficiently to cause Stalin's fall.

Peter the Great changed Russia from an Oriental to an Occidental country in a few years. Stalin might make as great a change in another revolution.

In any case, Stalin, holding power knows how to keep it, by shooting or exiling opponents. He's a man of action. Anybody that wants his job will have to take it from him. Russia of the old school talk bravely outside Russia's borders, but they show no inclination to go in.

The Rev. Dr. Stanley High, editor of the Christian Herald, says wet Republicans are conspiring against President Hoover. The nomination of wet Mr. Tuttle for governor of New York is part of a plot to get rid of Mr. Hoover in 1932, and put Dwight W. Morrow, also wet, in his place.

It is an interesting vision of wickedness. But, Mr. Dwight W. Morrow doesn't believe it. Mr. Tuttle doesn't believe it. President Hoover doesn't believe it, and the convention of 1932 will renominate Mr. Hoover.

The candidates for governor of New York, Roosevelt, Democratic, Little Republican, are cheered by heavy Republican. Apparent, the state is taking an interest in its government this time.

Because of sudden change in public mind, both Republican and Democratic candidates are running as "wringing wets."

The vote of the independent, bonedry candidate will shed light on the status of prohibition in the richest, biggest state of the Union.

The Demon Rum continues to demonstrate its increased efficiency in our bootleg era. It was bad enough in old days, when varnish and wood extract were not used to make whisky. Whisky killed you rather slowly.

At present, the process may take anywhere from five minutes to five years.

In Newark, N. J., yesterday, for instance, four people died promptly after drinking bootleg. The authorities fear that more deaths may follow, as that particular whisky seems to be widely distributed.

It is amazing that adults, not hopeless alcoholics, should drink poisonous concoctions of which they know nothing.

Scotland has gangs and gang wars, according to Glasgow reports. Religious bias lack of employment, lack of control by parents, AND GIRLS are the main causes of Scotch gang warfare.

Whisky, bootleg or otherwise, racketeering, have nothing to do with it.

Protestant-Catholic rivalry in football is one trouble, and Scotch girls, "uncertain, coy and hard to please," another. When a girl leaves one gang for another the two gangs fight. The gangsters are very young, many have never worked in their lives, employment being slack. "Racketing" provides an outlet for their energies.

Dogs aren't so smart. They howl when a cornet is played and accept the saxophone without protest.

Bobby Jones, Superman Of Golf, Lauded As Sport World's Hero

Young Georgian Takes Unique Place Through His "Grand Slam" And Editors Find No Adjectives To Describe Him

The difficulty of finding words, and phrases to satisfy the desire to bestow adequate praise on this phenomenal winner is voiced by the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER, which says, "the oldest and most reliable superlatives are utterly useless when it comes to Bobby Jones."

To the MORGANTOWN DOMINION-NEWS, "Jones is of course, the nonpareil of the golfing world." The MINNEAPOLIS STAR calls him "an emperor of golf."

There is some curiosity as to the future of Jones. "What can he do now?" To what may he look forward? asks the OHIO STATE JOURNAL. "He has come so near perfection that he has in a manner of speaking, no more worlds to conquer. And that, for a young man of 28, is a gloomy outlook," avers this paper. "But there will be another year," exclaims the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, "and the renewal of the same championships. When they recur, there will be interest in finding out whether Robert Tyre Jones is as good as he has been," suggests the Commercial Appeal.

"If there are any other golf worlds for him to conquer, accord him a few days' rest and he will be ready to drive off," concludes the ASHEVILLE TIMES. However this may be, "anyone duplicating Mr. Jones' record of 1930 will have to be not merely as good a golfer but, if this is conceivable, a better golfer than he is," in the judgment of the LOUISVILLE TIMES.

Analysis of the qualities of Bobby Jones as a man and as a player is made by many papers. "Nerve, brains, persistence, self-possession, an unerring eye and an unshakable stroke have given Bobby Jones an honor that some men would give a million dollars to attain," is the way the WICHITA BEACON puts it. For its appreciation, the SCRANTON TIMES quotes Jerome Travers, a former four-time amateur champion, who saw Jones play at Ardmore and said of him, "He combines to a degree attained by no one else, skill, power, courage and brains."

Of his playing the WALLA WALLA DAILY BULLETIN remarks: "For pure consistency, and day-after-day winning form, Jones is peer of all golfers." The DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT contends that "his splendid character and manhood will further add to the prestige and popularity of golf as a great American sport."

As to his achievements this year, the BALTIMORE SUN states: "In other games, it would not be surprising if a first-flight star, at the height of his game, made a clean sweep in any one season. But in golf, it is so unexpected and so unnatural as to seem positively improbable, even when it is accomplished."

Speaking of the four championships contests, the CHARLOTTE N. C. NEWS declares: "The winning of any of these four honors would have satisfied the normal professional or the most aspiring amateur in either continent, but Bobby went out to see what new kingdoms he might conquer, and returns with everything in sight in the way of international medals in his grip."

"To win the four major championships of the world in a single season is a feat never before accomplished by any golf player and a feat that probably will never be repeated," asserts the ALBANY MORNING CALL.

There may be others who will swing an iron as well as Jones, and there may be others who seldom require more than two putts when they reach the green, but we doubt that there will ever be another who can stand the strain of four major championships in a single year, in the opinion of the SUN ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS, which thinks that "is a hole that Jones will play alone."

Speaking with pride of Georgia's hero, the ATLANTA JOURNAL says of his playing these four tournaments: "It was not simply to add new plumes to his crest or new kingdoms to his empire, but to do surpassingly, superlatively, supremely well, the thing into which he has poured shining years of skill, courage, character. He has achieved more than championships, he has risen to that realm of excellence which history reserves for the finest deeds of men and calls classic."

The SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS directs attention to "a phase of his triumph, of which Georgia is wholeheartedly proud, which makes the basis of a lesson for all young fellows. Bobby Jones takes his victory with the finest spirit possible," says this Georgia paper, "he accepts triumph in a way that reveals something about him. Bob proved he can be a good winner, now, by disciplining himself years ago to be a good loser. The highest golf honor."

Do you like to feel that you are superior to those with whom you are employed?

Do you make an effort to create and maintain this idea?

Not only so far as family connections are concerned but also from an ability standpoint, do you feel that your work-a-day associates are not your equal?

Well, if you belong to a family which in past generations held a high position, what about your failure to maintain it?

If you have had the benefit of unusually good environment and opportunities to become educated you should be filling a responsible position.

That does not mean that you should feel too good to take a menial position if necessary.

It does mean that you should seek employment according to your education.

It means also that there is no occasion for snobbish feeling if you have money and feel obliged to take what comes and try to carry off at the same time the idea that you are better than your job.

It only emphasizes the fact that you are not a real thoroughbred if you get snobby while you are earning your own living, or trying to do so.

If you were really superior you would be occupying a better position.

That you are not is evidence that you are not superior.

Patrolmen Rosenzweig and Fulton started for the highway. They took a "short cut" and while hurrying to the scene, the milk truck, one of two which was journeying toward New Castle, crashed into a small car driven by Wood. The crash was between Willow Grove and Wampum. The car was completely smashed.

The driver did not stop, it is alleged, and when it came careening along the highway Baxter stood in the middle of the highway and signaled the car to stop. Hunter, he claims paid no attention to his command and sped at the estimated rate of 45 miles an hour toward the city.

Culbertson arrived at the spot where Baxter was waiting to "flag"

In the meantime the injured were rushed to the New Castle hospital. Baxter took Hunter to a doctor's office where he was examined and pronounced intoxicated. He was taken to Alderman Hamilton's office and charged with this offense and also failure to stop and render assistance.

FASCISTS CAUSE DISTURBANCE AS REICHSTAG MEETS

of minister of justice Bredt, a member of the Economic party.

Riot Breaks Out

While the meeting was in progress, another riot broke out in the business section of Berlin. An unruly mob stormed Wertheim's, the city's largest department store, smashing window panes and throwing passers-by into a panic. Police riot cars were rushed to the scene. Several of the demonstrators were arrested.

The rioting spread throughout the business section, with Jewish-owned shops singled out for attack. Scores of windows were smashed, and many business houses closed and shuttered their doors and windows.

In the Reichstag itself, the session was comparatively calm. Twice communists and Hitlerites crowded in front of the speaker's table and shook their fists, but returned quietly to their seats when ordered to do so.

Cheer Loudly

The National Socialists, presenting a solid mass of khaki shirts, cheered loudly when Goebbels entered late. One zealous fascist split the air with a yell "Hail to Hitler!"

Capitulating to his party's demands, Dr. Bredt submitted his resignation, expressing his willingness to participate in a reorganized cabinet. It is held possible president Von Hindenburg may refuse to accept his resignation.

Chancellor Bruening's cabinet still believes a safe majority will be found. "There's no weakness on our part," one member of the government said today.

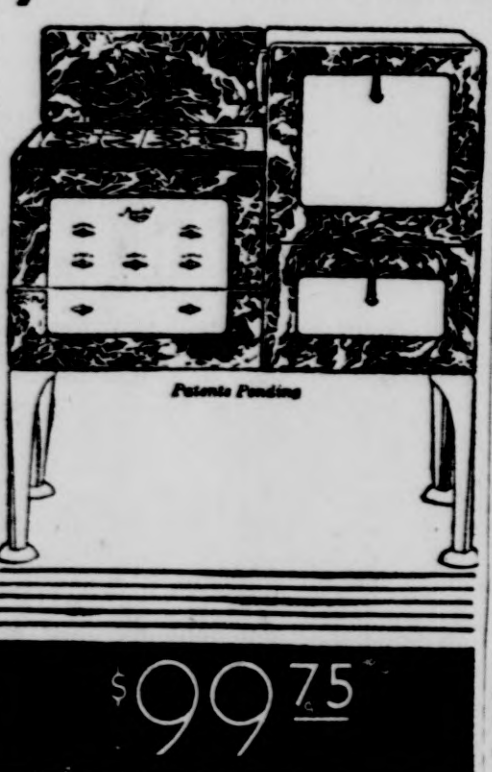

Police closed the entire Tiergarten section of the city, in which the Reichstag is located, holding back the crowds with mounted officers. The mounted squads were also used to hold in order large crowds at Postdammer Platz, Berlin's busiest square, where repeated charges against the mobs were necessary.

Several stones and other missiles were thrown in the encounters, and it was reported that one shot was fired at the Reichstag building.

Prince August Wilhelm Hohenzollern, son of the Ex-Crown Prince and member of the fascist party, was among the hundreds who crowded the visitors' gallery of the Reichstag building. Proceedings throughout the day were interrupted by the shouting of the fascists and the communists, who continually carried on a verbal war with each other.

A crowd of five hundred marched down Leipziger street, the city's main shopping artery, smashing store windows. Police were unable to determine whether these disturbers were communists, fascists, or both.

lin, at 854 Eighth avenue. Miss O'Laughlin recently sued Rudy Valdez for alleged breach of promise. Detectives found Miss Roberts hiding in a closet.

Wife at Beside

While Miss Roberts was being questioned, detectives brought Mrs. Alice Diamond, the gangster's wife, into her presence and it was reported that a stormy scene ensued when Mrs. Diamond confronted the young show girl.

Mrs. Diamond was also questioned by the police. She had rushed to New York from Acra, N. Y., to see her husband immediately after she learned he had been shot.

She visited him in the hospital. At Polyclinic hospital, Diamond informed Mulrooney that he did not recognize the gunmen who shot him and had no idea why they did it.

"He's lying about that, of course," was Mulrooney's comment.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The condition of Jack "Legs" Diamond, bullet ridden racketeer, was slightly improved today.

An official bulletin from Polyclinic hospital where he lies with the wounds of five gangster slugs in his body stated, "condition is satisfactory. Improvement was noted during the night."

Polyclinic hospital officials sought to have their notorious patient shifted to Bellevue hospital, it was learned, disliking the publicity attendant on Diamond. The gangster's condition was too serious to permit such a move.

The Parent Problem

Strive To Make School Attractive

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
From Los Angeles a mother writes:

"Dear Sir: I find your column in the Boston Sunday Post invaluable. A sort of longings for 'old home' prompted me to buy the Post, and now I take it solely for your columns, which have helped me so much. I wondered if you had any of these writings in book or pamphlet form. I have passed them to the neighbors and friends and sometimes the return is dubious, and I can't bear to lose any, so feel I am becoming selfish in withholding the lend of the paper. I'd have to write a book to be able to tell you how far reaching your good words are. I thank you."

Answer: The articles you refer to are prepared especially for the papers which carry them. An occasional subject which I write on I have discussed elsewhere, but as a rule, they are entirely new material so far as my efforts are concerned. I do write a number of articles for general magazines and educational journals and I have a recent book entitled "The Modern Parent." Moreover, as I have frequently said in this column, I have written a series of twenty-four letters to parents for the U. S. Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., free to all. I also wrote for the bureau a pamphlet "Education of Young Children Through Celebrating Their Successes," which may be had of the U. S. Supt. Public Documents for a five-cent stamp. Also I prepared a pamphlet "Six Programs for Study Groups," which gives a selected list of readings, and which I think is free for the Ohio Branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, State Department of Education, Columbus, O.

From another mother who gives no address I have the following: "Apropos the letter about the boy who suddenly hates schools and wants to go to work, please tell the mother to let him do so. You say 'allow the boy to suffer his own penalty' isn't that the way of it? Whatever happens after he makes his choice he can blame himself, for if his life is ruined (which I think will not be) the fault is not any one's but his own. Anyone whose character is as strong as the one this mother writes about should not be thwarted. I think. Get him a job, and let him try it out, away from home if possible. Perhaps in a few years he will return to his studies."

Answer: Your solution of the case in question might be a good one, but it is not safe to generalize. Yes, we do want "the child to suffer his own penalty," but this penalty often comes too late to do any good. Often the damage is done long before the penalty falls. Parents of school children who want to go to work because they hate school ought to exhaust every possible means by working with the teacher and any other person able to lend aid, to help that child achieve more school success so that learning will lose its loathsomeness and acquire some lure.

WHAT THE PRINCESS FORGOT TO REMEMBER

The Poor Little Princess had no sooner gotten used to Busy than it came time for Busy to leave. "Here comes Nurse!" said Busy to the princess. "My, my, won't she be surprised to find what a good girl you are! I dare say she has some delicious sweet milk for your supper."

At the cheering news that it was meal time, the Princess brightened up, and suddenly she smiled at the boy in that odd way all Ants have. "Why, the Princess really is good looking, after all," thought Peter, who until that moment had considered the Princess very homely, indeed, which goes to prove what a smile will do, even for an Ant.

"It's the strangest thing, but I am sure I know just exactly what that milk is to taste like," murmured the Princess. "It will be cool and refreshing. Why I should know I'm sure I can't guess. I've only just come into the world, haven't I?"

Busy nodded, then chuckled. "You've just entered the world as a full-fledged Ant, to be sure, Princess dear, but before your cocoon days you were a little larva. And as a little larva, my what a lot of milk you drank. It was hard work trying to supply you with enough to fill your little tummy."

Princess blinked. She was trying hard to remember something she had almost forgotten. "Long before I spun myself a silken coverlet and curled up in it and went to sleep I was a funny little thing without any legs, wasn't I?"

Next: "The Naughty Prince."

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Thirty years ago Frankie Bailey was known as the woman with the finest pair of legs on Broadway. She was a member of the Weber and Fields aggregation. When the famous music hall closed Frankie Bailey drifted out with the gang, and for the last 25 years we've been hearing of her here, there and everywhere, engaged in the most outlandish endeavors.

A couple of years ago she came back to New York and for a time had a job as hostess in one of the big hotels. Then her health failed, her luck broke, and today, at the age of 71, she's living in a little furnished room down on the Jersey Coast, nearly destitute.

PHILANTHROPIST

The proprietor of a Sixth Ave. Nose Bag, in the heart of the employment agency district, distressed at the sight of hundreds of jobless men milling in his neighborhood with their belt buckles jammed in the last notch, cut his prices to a point just a hair's breadth this side of charity. He operates at a loss every day, and the duration of his beneficence depends on the size of his bankroll.

A long line of persons who have been haunting the agencies stand outside the restaurant waiting for seats about the round, neat counters. Busy waitresses, who have agreed with the proprietor to work without tips, efficiently serve the customers.

A sad feature of the experiment is that a few who can afford to pay higher prices and who have steady jobs, take advantage of the situation and usurp the places of those really in need.

HE DID HER WRONG

Years ago out of St. Louis's tenderloin came a ribald ballad entitled "Frankie and Johnnie." It was one of those vulgar, robust, rowdy and tangible compositions dealing with the elemental passion of a loretto for "her man."

"Frankie" was "Frankie" a product of the pavements, and "Johnnie" was one of those weak-chinned parasites of the lower levels, fond of cocaine, good cooking and the society of women. "Frankie's" affection for "Johnnie" was all-abiding. They were both in love with the same person. "Johnnie" made the fatal error of "doin' her wrong" and the tragedy that ensued was obvious. The lady ventilated his system with a sixshooter and spent the remainder of her life mourning of the man "Johnnie" once was.

BREAD PRICES DOWN WITH WHEAT PRICES

IN fairness to the public, A&P announces a cut in the price of its standard size loaf of bread conforming to the reduced price of wheat. This reduction is in accordance with A&P's policy—giving to the consumer the benefit of lower prices of raw material.

The farmer shares the advantage—larger consumption of his product following lower prices at the store counter.

Down Greenwich Village way there's a little German girl who acts as "doorman" and bouncer at one of the joints. Her previous name is Olga and the subsequent part of it is Schoch. Church Is Crowded To Hear Erickson

Meetings Continue At Pearson
Street Tabernacle During Present Week

"What difference will it make 100 years from now?" said Rev. Erickson last night at the Missionary Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, "whether you used solid silver or ten-cent store artillery? We will all be gone from the face of the earth by that time, and what difference will it make then if you ate turkey and all its trimmings or baked beans? Or if you lived in a mansion or a rented room? What will it matter then whether you had a billion dollars in the bank or not a cent to your name? What matter then whether you spent nights in a road-house or were a moral stay-at-home? What difference then whether you wore silk socks or cotton socks? But—it will make a difference whether or not you accept Christ as a substitute for sin."

The church was filled to capacity Sunday night with an overflow crowd in the basement, where they were able to hear very well with the aid of a public speaker system which has been recently installed in the church. The mixed quartet sang a special number at the afternoon service, and Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Erickson favored the audience with two specials at night, one of which was a spiritual and was very much enjoyed. Meetings each night this coming week, with the exception of Monday night, and morning meetings on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Ends Piles Quick Without Salves or Cutting

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, removes this congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere and has such a wonderful record of success even in chronic and stubborn cases that McKee's or Eckard's drug stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.

Car Demolished On Pennsylvania Grade Crossing

Darting around a halted automobile and into the lowered crossing gates of the Pennsylvania railroad at Struthers, O., resulted in a narrow escape for A. P. Stewart, Struthers resident and driver of the car, and the total demolition of the car, Sunday morning. A fast freight of the Pennsy struck Stewart's car broadside.

Railroad officials could not account for Stewart's actions, as the lowered gates and flashing red lights gave warning of an approaching train. The gate was broken in two. Stewart was injured about the hands and face and rushed to the Youngstown City hospital. He was not in a serious condition.

The crash occurred at the Struthers Bridge street crossing.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AGE FACES YOUTH

There were three old men on a mountain high.

And one of them said: "We must block the way."

For I have heard strange footsteps day by day.

And I know that a younger man draws nigh.

And I fear he is coming our power to take.

We must drive him back for our comfort's sake."

And the second man said: "I have seen his face."

His eyes are keen and his arm is strong.

He'll be at our door before very long.

If he once sets foot on this lofty place.

It will be the end of our days of power.

We must hold him down to the last grim hour."

But the third man said: "We are old and gray."

We cannot keep pace with the step of youth.

We must all give way to the widening truth.

Though we once were wise, we have had our day.

This youth is coming new goals to make.

Let us clear his way for our credit's sake."

Objects In Action Best To Sketch, Is Bishop's Advice

Noted Cartoonist, In Second Lesson, Gives Additional Drawing Hints To Contestants

Another leaf from Bishop's Sketchbook
EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second lesson by nationally famous cartoonists for boys and girls entering the national cartoon contest.

By WALLY BISHOP
Creator of "Muggs McGinnis"

In doing your sketches of people or animals try for action. Try to catch the outlines of someone as he walks around rather than draw him when he is seated.

And don't labor or "workover" your sketches. Try to do them as quickly as neatness and your best efforts will permit.

Sketching teaches you to observe—and your ability to draw, you will find, depends on your ability to observe. You cannot draw an object correctly unless you know how it looks. So teach yourself to look at things, and retain mental pictures of them for future use.

Try to understand the MECHANICAL construction on objects. I mean by that study, for instance, your arm and hand. Just where does the elbow appear and the wrist? How do they bend? And the knuckles of the fingers and the thumb—how do they bend?

Study your left arm and hand (if you are right-handed, otherwise study your RIGHT arm and hand) in the manner described above—and they try to draw them.

First U. P. Has Rally Exercises Sunday Morning

Rally day was observed with appropriateness at the regular morning service in the First United Presbyterian church, Glenmore boulevard and Albert street, Sunday morning. In the place of the customary worship service a program was given by the children of the Sunday school.

Cooperating to make the exercises a success were Miss Helen McConnell, director of special days; Miss Catherine Morrow, supervisor of music, and teachers and officers of the Sunday school.

While as previously announced, the rules governing the window displays have not yet been definitely decided upon, they will give awards on the basis of the story told, the general appearance and neatness with which the display is made.

In the matter of the floats, there will be awards of merit for the better floats, which will mean much to those participating and indicate a real effort in the interests of the community.

It is desired that those expecting to participate make their entries at once. Those planning to participate are requested to fill out the following coupon and return at once to Mrs. William Cosel, secretary of the Woman's Club.

There will be three cash prizes $25 for first; $15 for second and $10 for third prize.

Window displays and floats will be two big features of the coming Armistice Day celebration, Tuesday, November 11th, under the auspices of the former service men of Lawrence, Butler and Mercer counties.

The Woman's Club has assumed the work of putting these two very important features over and have been accorded a warm reception and the promised co-operation of practically every merchant in the city, as well as some of the industries, in regard to floats.

Rules regulating the window displays and floats will be announced shortly by the club, but in the meantime, it has been determined that all window displays and also the floats, must be something that will tell a story of the Armistice that brought to a close the recent World War.

Blames Outsiders For Disorder At Boston Legion Convention

"The idea that seems to prevail as a result of the happenings in Boston during the recent convention of the American Legion, is that it was a free-for-all and carry out," said Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, retiring commander of Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion, who was himself a delegate to the convention. "And I wish to state most emphatically that such an idea is entirely erroneous and without the least foundation on fact, regardless of the articles published in the press. The articles published have been thoroughly digested, there would have been no grounds left for this idea, as it was shown conclusively in these articles that it was not the Legionnaires who caused the trouble."

"The American Legion convention differed in no way from any other convention," said Commander Rosenthal, "except that it was the largest convention ever held. The trouble concerning which so much was published was not occasioned by the Legionnaires, as actual statistics will show, but by a great throng of tramps, convention followers, the riff raff of a big city and even college students. These persons, in no way affiliated with the Legion, assumed the role of hoodlums, taking advantage of the presence of so many visitors to whom the freedom of the city had been extended, and the scenes enacted and attributed by many to the Legionnaires were their work, not that of the former service men."

"It is true there were bootleggers on the scene, taking advantage of the situation and selling poison liquor, but they were rounded up and disposed of. They were merely making the most of an opportunity resulting from the influx of great throngs of visitors."

"We arrived Sunday morning and by Sunday evening there was a tremendous crowd. Unfortunately, the Statler Hotel was the only centrally located hotel and due to its being the headquarters of the Legion, the bulk of the mob of people was in and about it."

"People were packed and jammed in it and all around it. Fifty percent of the throng were visiting legionnaires and the other fifty percent were hangers-on, attracted by the convention. All reports to the contrary, there was nothing of value molested at the Statler, which was the center of Legion activities. I stopped at the Manger, a short distance away and not a thing of a disturbing nature occurred there."

"I talked with the manager of the Statler just before leaving and he informed me, that the damage done, in spite of reports to the contrary would not exceed $150 to $200 and most of this would be represented in the labor and soap used in cleaning up, as nothing of value had been molested. The manager said that it was one of the most orderly conventions they had ever had and that there had been no trouble besides that caused by the outsiders."

"Monday night when the state police rode into the Statler and cleaned it out, there was trouble in the street for three or four hours with the civilian hangers-on but after they had been disposed of there was perfect order from that time on. Also from that time on, admission to the Statler was by identification only, meaning that only Legionnaires could get in."

"The big Pennsylvania dance was one of the biggest and most orderly affairs ever held. This was due to the fact that only Legionnaires were admitted. The California Dance was not so successfully conducted because the same precautions were not taken."

"When the authorities showed that they meant business, the result was amazing, because they cleaned up those who were not Legionnaires and were seeking to get into the limelight by causing trouble."

"The Legionnaires all had a good time. The people of the city and the authorities were anxious to have them have a good time and did everything possible to make their stay pleasant. The police were courteous and they and the good people of the city went out of their way to help them enjoy themselves. In all the time that the convention was in progress, I did not see one Legionnaire in the hands of a police officer. Of all the hundreds who were arrested, only two were Legionnaires and this is truly remarkable when it is considered that but two of the many, many thousands of Legionnaires from all parts of the country in Boston, were in any way involved in the mixup."

"The Communists attempted a demonstration shortly after President Hoover arrived at the Statler Hotel. I was right on the scene and this group of malcontents had hardly put up their banners, until they were down. There was considerable manhandling. This was one of the activities in which the Legionnaires did take an active part and all I can say, is that they did their part well."

"In conclusion, I would say that had the outsiders attended to their own affairs as well as the Legionnaires did to theirs, that there would have been no trouble as there was one thing manifest at all times by the Legionnaires and that was a strict discipline and order which made trouble impossible. I make this statement in the interests of the fair name of the Legion and all those service men, who did their bit in the World War."

Correct this sentence: "When at last one great chain owns everything," said the man, "the reduction of overhead will make everything cheap."

Rally Day Program Draws Large Crowd To Highland Church

As a culmination of a week's entertainments and get-together meetings came the Rally Day service of the Highland United Presbyterian Bible school Sunday morning when 582 members were present at the regular Sabbath school session. The classes, in a body, entered the church auditorium for the most excellent program, prepared under the leadership of Mrs. J. G. Blm, with Mrs. H. A. Wilkins, Mrs. Elwood Gilbert, Mrs. W. D. Jones, Albert Dodds and Lois Williamson as her efficient assistants.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, those to whom the credit for this part was due included Mrs. W. J. Offutt, Mrs. Lee Allen, Mrs. Charles Withers, Mrs. John Haven, Mrs. McCollough, R. S. Cline and Phil Williams.

The parties held during the week were under the supervision of the superintendents and teachers of the various departments with the adult party arranged by Grace Jones, Albert Dodds, Lucille Emery, Minnie Davidson and Mrs. C. J. Williamson. The cabinet of the Sabbath school expressed their thanks, through the pastor, Dr. C. J. Williamson, to every one who had helped in any way to make this week and rally day service the success it was.

What is copper?

Copper is a metallic element distinguished from all other metals by its peculiar red color. The name is derived from the Latin cuprum, the island of Cyprus. Copper and copper alloy objects are found in the prehistoric remains of Egypt, Asia Minor and China and on the American continent was known and used by the aboriginal races. What is the Australian ballot?

The Australian ballot is so called because of the fact that it was first employed with success in some of the Australian states. It is printed and distributed by the state but its most distinguished feature is the arrangement of the names of all the candidates for a given office, whether nominated by party organization or by independent effort, in order on the ballot, the voter indicating his choice by some mark written by him opposite the name of his chosen candidate.

Is there any record of a hoop snake in the United States or any foreign country?

The hoop snake is a small snake of the South Atlantic states, foolishly feared by the negroes, who say it will put its tail in its mouth, stiffen its body and roll along like a hoop. It is perfectly harmless and spends most of its time beneath the ground burrowing deeply into the soil.

Does the deer shed its antlers annually?

Antlers are renewed annually, the fully formed pair becoming detached from the "pedicels" on which they were developed and a new pair arising at the same place. They are usually shed after the close of the breeding season. The most handsomely developed antlers are found only on fully matured males.

Late Saturday evening, the police received a call from the Huston Hardware store to the effect that there had been a holdup in the rear of the store. Detective John Young, and Officers M. J. Young, Moore and Thomas answered the call and found that Dominic Varravate of 123 Frank Way, had been held up by two colored men in the vicinity of his home. He was relieved of an open face gold watch. The officers searched the district but were unable to locate the two colored men.

May Cease Laying Walks Until Spring

Probability is that council will not order construction of any more sidewalks this year, owing to weather conditions. At least this was indicated when Inspector Mosely today reported on sidewalk conditions in Glass street. He reported he had served notices upon four property owners to lay sidewalks on the east side of Glass street. The grade was given Saturday. "It is too late for sidewalk building," remarked Councilman Treser.

Validity Of Tax Collection Method Called In Question

Case Of County Commissioners Against E. E. Umbright On Trial

When court convened this morning the case of F. M. Davis, T. J. McCullough and Charles Matthews, use of the Casualty Surety company against Edward E. Umbright and the Republic Casualty company, was taken up for trial before Judge J. M. Chambers. This is a case involving the collection of delinquent county taxes for the year 1922, at which time C. Lee Horner was county treasurer and Davis, McCullough and Matthews county treasurer. For many years previous to 1922 it had been the custom of county treasurers to place the delinquent tax duplicates in the hands of collectors. Five per cent from the face had been allowed and five per cent additional for collection. During the first years of Horner's term as county treasurer he had followed the usual custom of his predecessors. However when the county auditors came to audit the books for 1922, they failed to allow the five per cent from the duplicate and surcharged Horner with $1,814.75, which Umbright, following the usual custom, had deducted from the amount placed in his hands for collection. In other words he turned in to the county treasurer the amount given him for collection less five per cent. The legality of the allowance which treasurer's had been paying hinges on the interpretation of the acts of the legislature of 1851 and of 1834. It is claimed by the plaintiffs in the case that the amount of the duplicates given Umbright should have been turned in, allowing him five per cent collected from taxpayers above the duplicate as his compensation Umbright claims that he had followed the usual custom and believed that he was entitled to the additional five per cent from the face of the duplicate.

Mortgage Payment Involved In Case

Suit Of Jesse McCommon Administrator Against F. S. Reck On Trial

The case of Jesse McCommon, administrator of James Gideon Woods against Frank S. Reck was called for trial before Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand this morning. This is a case in which Reck had given a mortgage for $1700 to Woods on property located in Union township. The loan was negotiated through J. O. Rodgers. At the time of Woods' death it is claimed by the plaintiff that the mortgage had not been paid, and the administrator issued an execution for collection. Reck claimed that the full amount of the mortgage had been paid to J. O. Rodgers, whom he alleges was acting as agent for Woods in placing the money. The case was tried at a former term of court and a verdict in favor of the defendant was awarded. Application was made for a new trial, which was granted, and this is the case taken up this morning. One of the main questions involved in the case is the agency of J. O. Rodgers, the question being whether he was in fact acting as the agent of Woods in placing the money or the agent of Reck in obtaining the money.

New Castle Is Below Average In City Costs

Operation Of General Governmental Departments
Among Lowest In Nation

PER CAPITA REVENUE
ALSO UNDER AVERAGE

Bonded Indebtedness Is Half
That Of Other Cities
Its Size In Country

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—
New Castle spends less money per resident on the operation and maintenance of its general governmental departments but also collects less revenue per person than does the average city of 30,000 or more population in this country, it would appear from an analysis of figures collected by the bureau of the census and just made available to the public.

After gathering financial statistics covering the fiscal year of 1929 for the 250 cities in the nation having a population of 30,000 or more,
the census bureau calculated the maintenance and operation expenditures in that year for the group as a whole to average $42.63 per resident. Operation and maintenance figures for New Castle, on the other hand, reveal that such expenditures for that city in the 1929 fiscal year amounted to only $25.54 per capita, smaller than the per capita cost of the 250 cities by $17.09.

Likewise, the per capita revenue of the New Castle government for the year was only $38.20 as compared to a per capita revenue of $71.64 for the 250 cities as a group. The net indebtedness of New Castle at the close of the year averaged $66.39 per resident, considerably below the per capita indebtedness of $134.07

for the 250 cities as a whole.

The per capita maintenance and operation payments in New Castle were lower than those of the cities as a group for the fiscal years of 1927 and 1917 as well as 1928, according to the census bureau figures. Such payments in New Castle amounted to $25.97 in 1927 and $11.11 in 1917 as against $40.98 in 1927 and $19.07 in 1917 in the group of cities as a unit included in the survey.

*Of all the features of the new Ford there is none more important than reliability. It is a reflection of the substantial worth of the car.

Evidence of the high quality built into the Ford is the extensive use of ball and roller bearings. There are more than twenty in all—an unusually large number. From the engine to the road, the entire drive of the new Ford on all forward speeds is wholly on ball and roller bearings.

In addition to smoother operation, this saves gasoline, gives the car more speed and power, decreases noise and increases the durability and efficiency of every moving part.

Another important factor in good performance is the care with which the car is made. The aluminum pistons are an interesting example of precision manufacture.

Though weighing more than a pound each, they are made so accurately that they do not vary more than two grams in weight. In size they are held true to within one one-thousandth of an inch. The wrist-pin holes in the pistons are diamond bored to within a limit of three ten-thousandths of an inch. In each motor, complete piston and connecting-rod assemblies are not permitted to vary from each other by more than 3 1/2 grams.

Throughout the car you find many other instances of this same accuracy in the manufacture and assembly of vital mechanical parts. Combined with simplicity of design and high quality of materials, it is the reason for the economy and long life of the car and the satisfactory service it is giving millions of owners the world over.

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the new Ford. You will know then that it brings you everything you want or need in an automobile at an unusually low price.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take.
Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recommended by high medical authorities
as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Tony Colella, 309 Neal street, reported Sunday that he was enroute north on North Jefferson street and making a left hand turn into Grant street when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 5913V, owned by Ralph Allen, 226 West Moody avenue, which had stopped at the stop sign on Grant street before entering Jefferson street, started up and the machines came together. Some damage was done to both cars.

Thomas E. Seidnes of Struthers, O., reported Sunday that he was parked on Atlantic avenue near Burke's store, when the car of Harry DeHuff, 104 Reiber street, ran into and badly damaged his machine. DeHuff claimed to the police that the Seidnes car was without lights.

S. G. Broadhead, of 427 Fairmont avenue, reported Sunday that he was enroute east on Washington street near Maryland avenue, when a car going west drove up on the sidewalk and hit another machine, then his car, causing some damage to all machines.

Mrs. Norman McFarland of 1216 South Mill street, reported Sunday that she was parked in front of the Ritchie funeral home on South Mill street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license WG46 going east on Reynolds street and making a left hand turn onto Mill street was shoved into her machine by another car. Some damage was done.

Raymond J. Hockendoner of Youngstown, O., reported Saturday that he was driving the car of John Donegan east on East Washington street at Maryland Avenue as Claude Moore of Maryland avenue going east made a left hand turn onto Maryland avenue and his machine hit the Moore machine. There was some damage.

C. G. Lindner of 214 Euclid avenue, reported Saturday that he was enroute south on North Mill street at Sycamore Way, when a woman, whose name he did not secure was crossing Mill street at this point. Apparently there was a car coming in the opposite direction and this caused her to step backward and she was hit by the left front wheel of the Lindner car. She was apparently uninjured.

Frank Wilkinson of 526 West Clayton street, was enroute west on East Washington street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 27-706, hit and damaged the left rear fender of his machine.

J. P. Morgan of 1107 South Mercer street, was enroute south on North Mill street at East North street Saturday, when a machine enroute in the same direction stopped for the red light. There were cars parked on either side of the street across North street and the lady driving the machine in front of Mr. Morgan stepped by these cars to let her mother out. As Mr. Morgan drove to the right side to pass, she started up her machine and his car was slightly damaged as the other hit his fender.

Six Eligible To Receive Pensions

Elder Has Served Continuously —Horner Has Most Years Service

Cy Horner, present police chief, has more service as a policeman than any other officer on the New Castle force, it was discovered today when a News reporter scanned the "service sheets." Horner has 27 years but the service is not continuous. Captain J. Ed Elder is the ranking officer, relative to continuous service, having served 21 years and five months. He is one policeman who served during the Socialist administration.

The other "old-timers" who have many years in service, though not continuous, follow:
George Wyman, 26 years; Fred Shuler, 23 years 6 months; William Tyrrell, 21 years 5 months; Detective C. G. Logan, 20 years 4 months; William McConaghy, 19 years 6 months; James Wysner, 16 years 10 months; Joseph Greer, 16 years, 9 months; and Michael Ritty, 19 years 6 months.

Alleged Drunken Driver Arrested

Will Face That Charge Before Alderman Of The City

Answering a call Sunday night to the Long avenue district to the effect that there was a car parked there that had been driven there by a man apparently under the influence of liquor and who was accompanied by several others apparently under the influence of liquor, Detective John Young and Officer Charles Augustine, found George Gudyk in charge of the car, admitting ownership and to having driven the machine, and apparently very much under the influence of liquor. He was brought to the police station, where an examining physician found him to be under the influence of liquor. He will be taken today before a local alderman, where a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor will be made against him by Chief of Police C. C. Horner.

IN USE

THERE is something new on the market in Apex Washers. Visit our store and allow us to show you the latest Apex invention, the DOUBLE-DASHER.

There are four outstanding points about the new Apex DOUBLE-DASHER. (1) It washes a few pieces during the midweek, or a full family load on Monday, with equal ease and spotlessness because the DOUBLE-DASHER has two water lines, a Family Line for Monday and a Silk Line for the light midweek washing. You will be interested to see how this DOUBLE water line principle helps to simplify your washing problem. (2) The Apex DOUBLE-DASHER does not tangle. There is no center post or fins around which clothing can wrap. (3) The DOUBLE-DASHER does not tear. (4) The DOUBLE-DASHER washes faster and cleaner.

There is nothing newer or more efficient in any washer at any price than the Apex DOUBLE-DASHER. Be sure to see it. We have a special display at our store now, or if you wish, phone us and we will gladly give you a free home demonstration.

Ad In News Gets Results

Just another example of what an Ad placed in the Want-Ad page of the New Castle News will do.
On Friday one of the Pa Newc family had the misfortune of losing her pet terrier dog, and at once put an ad in the "Lost and Found" column. At six o'clock that same evening, a telephone call came from a party on the old Pittsburgh road, that he had a dog answering that description, and it was shortly after that it was found to be Punchedella.
She is home and happy once again.

Another sign that a man will soon be out of a job is his belief that advice is impudence.

Detroit Racketeer Slain By Enraged Husband In Home

Detroit Man Being Hunted—

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Oct. 13.—Louis Salvio, 37, reputed racketeer who figured in the slaying of a beer runner here last July, was killed early today by an enraged husband, Felix Triano, according to a police report.

had quarreled with his wife, Grace Triano, 26, and left her, fled from the shooting. A pistol with three discharged bullets found near Salvio's body at the foot of the stairs indicated, police said, he had crawled from his bed and apparently pursued Triano before his wounds proved fatal. A trail of blood led from the bed to the stairs.

Mrs. Triano denied to police, they said, that she was with Salvio when the jealous husband shot him.
Salvio roomed with the couple.

ELLWOOD HIGH ELEVEN LOSES TO BEAVER FALLS

Tubers Are Overwhelmed
On Valley Field On Saturday

Play Great Ball For Time
But Weaken—Final
Score 35-6

By TONY PASTA

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 13.—After outplaying and scoring in the first five minutes of play the Ellwood City High School eleven weakened and allowed Beaver Falls to swamp them by a 35-6 score on the latter's field Saturday afternoon before a large crowd of fans from both schools.

The Tigers presented a strong aggression and kept ramming the blue and white line for healthy gains. One outstanding event was the "Reign" act. Joe Welsh, an Ellwood City warrior became confused in recovering a fumble and was the victim of a peculiar accident as he picked up the oval and ran over fifty yards to the opponent's goal. He being a lineman and not being used to running the ball became confused, failed to realize that he was running in the wrong direction.

Many Features

Among the high spots of the tilt was a long forward pass from Morris to Clotti which netted forty yards and later resulted into a touchdown. In the beginning of the last period Hagg broke through and ran forty yards across the line. Sheeler brought the crowd on their feet at the opening of the second half of the fray as he accepted the kick off and ran twenty yards before he was downed.

Ellwood kicked off and on the first play Young fumbled and the local machine began to advance with a strong aerial attack. Twice Cunningham tossed the pigskin to Neff to net more than enough for a yard. Ellwood could gain very little through the line and it was only through this method that advancement could be obtained. The Tubers first score came shortly after the second pass as Ingle injected Frisk into the fray in time to plunge the ball over. Frisk missed the try for kickover after touchdown.

Beaver Falls again accepted the kick off but this time started a luge march down the field for almost seventy yards. Morris, Hagg and Clotti alternated in carrying the ball for first downs and the pigskin was the first quarter came to a close.

With only four yards to go Young hit the line but lacked about a yard of being over the line and on the next play the Tigers scored their marker with Hagg carrying the ball over. Young failed to kick it over for the extra point which brought the count to 6-6 tie.

Beaver Falls booted it again and Ellwood immediately attempted a pass but it was broken up. On the following play Frisk was thrown for a loss and when Cunningham attempted to punt the orange and black blocked his kick which went over the line to give Beaver Falls a safety and broke the deadlock of 6-6. After the ball had been taken out on the twenty yard line and Neff kicked it the Valley club started for another score. Morris carried the oval twice for first downs with Clotti assisting him. This time the opponents tossed one and Hagg accepted it from Morris. Clotti hit the line to take the pigskin over the goal by a few yards and Morris came to the rescue as he annexed the second touchdown for his mates. Young again failed to kick it over for the extra point.

Frisk made a pretty run as he accepted the kick off and ran thirty five yards before he was stopped. On his second buck at the line Cunningham fumbled. After hitting the line twice for little gain Morris heaved a long pass to Clotti who had advanced the ball over forty yards before Clotti pushed him out of bounds. Twice the Tigers rammed the blue and white line and on the third try Hagg crossed the goal for his second marker of the day and brought the orange and black to twenty as the Heckathorne men failed to run the oval over for the extra point.

The Heckathorne crew kicked off with only a few minutes left before the half Ellwood attempted to pass but failed to complete same as the whistle brought the first part of the tilt to a close.

Sheeler brought the fans on their feet in the opening of the second half as he accepted the kick off and ran over twenty yards before he was tackled. Ellwood attempted a long pass but it was not completed. W. Pander picked up nine yards after a bad start as he almost fumbled when catching the ball. Sheeler hit the line for enough to net a first down. R. Wilson gained six and Pander picked up more than enough to make a first down.

This brought the advancement to an end as two passes were broken up and two cracks at the line failed to gain any ground forcing the blue and white to give the ball up on downs. Beaver Falls had possession of the oval for only a short time. Sheeler recovered a fumble after Hagg had already carried the ball for six yards on the first play. The Heckathorne began to tear through the Tubers defense as Young, Clotti, Hagg and Morris all made first ten yard gain by accepting a toss from Moore. Ellwood then tightened up and threw Hagg for a five yard loss and Morris picked up this much on the next play. The Tigers then attempted a pass but Sheeler intercepted.

Neff took the ball on a reverse play and picked up four yards but Ellwood's joy was short lived as Howarth rushed in on the net play and snatched the ball as the Tubers attempted a double pass and this young lad was over the line in a jiffy. Locatos failed to kick it over for the extra point.

Locatos kicked a beautiful one as it rolled over the goal and was brought out on the twenty yard line Ellwood immediately punted, as the third quarter came to a close after Beaver Falls had failed to gain on three attempts. On the first play of the fourth session the Heckathorne men punted with R. Wilson accepting. Pander muffed the ball but recovered and on the next play Wilson punted to Hagg who also fumbled but tucked it under him before the blue and white could snatch it. Hagg was not satisfied with his brilliant performance he had already given and gave the fans a treat as he took the oval on the next play and ran forty yards to score. The extra point was annexed by a pass from Morris to Rimbey.

Condi accepted as the orange and black kicked. Wilson tossed a pass but it was intercepted by the enemy. A fifteen yard penalty forced the Valley club to punt and on the first play Smith recovered as Sheeler let go of the pigskin. Two plunges netted little ground and when Morris attempted a pass Pander intercepted but Ellwood was soon forced to kick.

A fifteen yard penalty forced Beaver Falls to punt. The "Reign" play occurred at this time when Joe Welsh recovered a fumble and ran to the opponent's goal line giving them a safety. The oval was taken out on the 20 yard line and Ellwood kicked. For the third time the Valley crew suffered a fifteen yard penalty.

ality. After Locato's blocked kick was recovered by himself he again punted and the contest came to a close as Ellwood threw an uncompleted pass.

Tom MacMurdo In Uniform Again

Former High Star Plays With Independent Team On Saturday; Ellwood Wins

By TONY PASTA

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 13.—The Johnsons, Ellwood City's independent football aggregation, had its debut at the Ewing Park field on Saturday afternoon by defeating the Wabash A. A. of Pittsburgh by the score of 13-0. This was the opening battle for the local club, which is composed of almost all former E. C. H. S. grid stars.

T. MacMurdo, famous fullback of the 1925 W. P. I. A. L. team of E. C. H. S., was the outstanding performer with his line plunges. He and Haswell scored one touchdown apiece for the locals and the former also plunged the line for one extra point. Tom suffered an injury in the second quarter which kept him from performing at his best in the remainder of the battle. Generative played well on the line while Turner handled his wing position in first class style, and on one occasion caught a beautiful 40-yard pass.

The first score came in the opening period with Big Tom carrying the ball most of the time on straight line plunges. Ellwood's other marker came in the late part of the second quarter. Haswell nabbed a pass over the line on a fake cross back play.

Ellwood's independent eleven is anxious to book games and would like to get some scheduled for away from home. Any teams may get in touch with Nat. Moll, manager, by calling Ellwood 9117 any evening from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Of St. Agatha's Church
Motor To Pittsburgh

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 13.—"Eucharistic Day" one of the big days in the annals of the Catholic church occurred yesterday in Pittsburgh under the auspices of the Holy Name men's society of the church. The ceremonies took place in Forbes Field, with 70,000 men in attendance. It is reported that 45,000 were unable to get in to the ceremonies and packed the grounds outside. The sermons were amplified by nine large microphones, enabling even those outside the field to hear what was going on.

The music was most impressive, as was also the scene where 60,000 men carried lighted candles while they renewed their pledge of faith to their church and their country. Over one hundred members of the local Holy Name society attended the ceremonies, and enjoyed the addresses by Bishop Riley of Scranton and Bishop Boyle of the Pittsburgh Diocese.

The Rebels sustained 150,000 casualties, the Nanking government stated. Nationalists suffered 35,000 killed and 60,000 wounded.

Wars usually are a generation apart because it takes that long for the race to forget what war taxes that way.

Salvation Army Head Itemizes Activities

It is a remarkable fact that the Salvation Army in New Castle in one year has brought temporary relief to about 6,000 individuals and over 500 families alone were given aid in some way, states Ensign V. Thomsen.

The distribution of clothing and shoes runs into the count of thousands. Two hundred new garments received from the New Castle Needle Work Guild were given out and many grocery orders were given through local merchants. Besides 175 Christmas baskets, 71 men were sent to the City Mission for lodgings and others were given lodgings in boarding houses. Many meals were given to transients and temporary employment was found for nearly 100 individuals. Seven women, three of whom had children and were stranded in New Castle, were cared for by the local organization, medicine was given to sick people and rents were paid in four cases. Beds and bed clothing were supplied in 10 cases, and in two cases when families were burnt out an entire outfit was brought from the Youngstown institution to supply the need. Co-operation has been given the Red Cross, Associated Charities, New Castle Tin Plate Co. nurse, the Elks, Rotary Club, county commissioners, City Mission and The Ever Ready Club for Colored People. Several school children have been cared for through the transient officers.

Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge, also stated that several girls from Lawrence county had been admitted to the home and hospital in Pittsburgh. Many men have been admitted to the institution for men in Youngstown, and yet, said Ensign Thomsen, "I am amazed how little the average person in New Castle knows about the Salvation Army. We are not a distinct relief organization, we are not a distinct church organization, we are a combination of both. We have linked up religious activities with the charitable features in order to give each individual that touch of real human instinct called 'love' as Sir Rider Haggard describes it. 'Wherever there is a broken, hopeless man or woman, an outrageous open offender, a persistent drunkard or drug fiend, a poor girl in trouble, an unwanted babe, a starving stomach, a thief, a planner of iniquities, a would-be suicide, an ignorant, untaught child, a wanderer in darkness, a dweller in the pit of despair, in peace or war from Pole to Pole, there is the Salvation Army to comfort, to uplift, to feed the baby and spirit, to show that until everything is lost everything can be regained and to declare by countless examples the truth of the old saying that out of the foulest sinners may still be fashioned the most perfect saints.'" Mr. Thomsen says.

"With $4,000 allotted through the Community Chest we hope to continue to do what we can with the means put to our disposal. The question has often been raised, where is all the money spent which is obtained in New Castle for the Salvation Army, and the answer is, it is spent in New Castle. Such items as rent, light, gas, officers' salaries, printing, phone, auto upkeep, relief, etc., is all spent in New Castle, besides the Christmas baskets. Merchants and local people are benefitted. A fixed charge at all income for supervision is not sent to national headquarters or England, as some have in mind, but goes to the district headquarters at Pittsburgh and used for support of officials and miscellaneous. Pittsburgh is headquarters for western Pennsylvania. There have been no national funds sent from New Castle during the past year or two.

There are 35 cities in western Pennsylvania where the Salvation Army operates and 82 different countries and colonies in the world. There are four general hospitals operated in the eastern states, of which Mrs. V. Thomsen is a graduate nurse. Nearly 200 student nurses are now training in these institutions, recognized by the national medical boards. There are four training schools in the United States which annually graduate 400 men and women. The Salvation Army also operates day nurseries, boarding homes for women and girls and hotels for men and boys with moderate earning capacities. Day schools and work in the state penitentiaries and prisons are conducted by the Salvation Army. Many of the seaports have homes for sailors and a brighter day league system is worked through our prisons in the United States.

Local Hospitals On Approved List

Announcement Is Made At Conference Of American College Of Surgeons

Included among the 2063 hospitals in the United States and Canada, which have been inspected and approved by the American College of Surgeons during the past year, are the James Memorial hospital and the New Castle hospital, it was announced at the opening session of the Thirteenth Annual Hospital Standardization Conference of the American College of Surgeons in Philadelphia today.

This means that the local institutions have met the most rigid requirements of the College and are properly equipped and conducted to care for the sick.

When the standards established by the American College of Surgeons was first announced 13 years ago, only 29 institutions in the two countries were able to meet requirements. Now, almost three-fourths of them are on the approved list, showing an impressive record of advancement.

Slight Recovery Shown By Crops Due To Rainfall

Local Showers Aid Growing Crops; Milk Production Increases

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—Local showers during September resulted in a slight recovery in the condition of growing crops in Pennsylvania.

The federal-state crop reporting service said today in making public its monthly summary of agricultural condition. Indications are that the corn, buckwheat, potato and tobacco crops will be the shortest in years.

The drought is far from broken the survey shows. Milk production increased slightly last month but is still below that of a year ago. Many farmers are already feeding winter rations.

Egg production per hen decreased 31 per cent. While rains have helped some, the fruit crop is generally reported small throughout the state. The peach crop exceeded expectations but quality was impaired by dry weather.

Estimated yield of corn increased approximately 1,300,000 bushels during September. Reports reaching the department indicate a production of 29,084,000 bushels at the beginning of this last month. That figure is nearly one-half of the five year average yield.

In September the potato crop production showed signs of an increase in yield. At the beginning of the present month the forecast was 20,060,000 bushels as compared with 18,860,000 on September 1. The estimated tobacco crop also jumped from 37,905,000 pounds to 40,898,000 pounds during the month. The potato crop is about 6,000,000 bushels under the five year average and tobacco 10,000,000 pounds below.

The war record isn't complete yet. There isn't a single book that reveals the horrors of kitchen police. —The Akron Beacon Journal.

Only Three Cases Of Contagious Ills

Pa. News enjoyed excellent health during the month of September according to a report of the city health department to be delivered to city council this week. Only three cases of contagious illness were reported to the bureau. Typhoid, pneumonia and whooping cough were the maladies listed.

Garbage Heavy During September

City garbage employees had plenty to do during September according to a report of Superintendent Howard Phillips to be delivered to city council this week. Garbage was almost as heavy as during the summer months. Owing to canning and the non-operation of furnaces considerable garbage had to be collected during September. The amount collected by city trucks was 824 tons which was burned at the municipal furnace.

In addition to this amount 100 loads were hauled away by non-city trucks and several hundred barrels were collected from restaurants.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarets for a dime, and no dollar preparation could do better work

Two Girls Hunted Alleged Thieves Of Diamond Ring

Two Attractive "Co-Eds" Rob
Boy Friends Of Ring
And Money

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—Canadian and New York authorities today joined in the search for two attractive "college co-eds" who robbed Patrick Collier of Cleveland of a $4,500 diamond ring after he and a companion had entertained the girls with an extensive trip to Pittsburgh night clubs and cafes. Collier posted a $250 reward for the return of the ring and the capture of his two elusive companions whose names were given as Bertha Berthold, 23, and Gladys Fellows, 27, according to detectives. Reporting the theft to detectives, Collier said he and his friend encountered the two girls in downtown Pittsburgh when they drove along abreast of each other in two automobiles.

His dinner invitation was accepted by the "co-eds" after a short flirtation. After dinner they toured the night clubs and returned to a hotel where they occupied adjoining rooms. The next morning Collier arose to find his diamond ring and $100 of his friend's money gone along with their two fair companions, he told police.

Allegheny Defeats Westminster 7 To 6

TITANS PLAY GREAT GAME, BUT LOSE TO ALLEGHENY ELEVEN

Grid Battle At New Wilmington Saturday Proves Thriller In Final Half

Shaffer And Hamas Star For Westminster—Garbark And Varno Best For Visitors

After two listless periods, the first and second, Westminster and Allegheny football teams, suddenly came to life at New Wilmington Saturday afternoon, and gave the "Home-Comers" a real tussle right down to the final minute of play. Allegheny nosed out the victory 7 to 6, paying back the defeat which the Titans dragged out of Montgomery field last year after a titanic struggle.

The two schools are ancient rivals and a victory one way or the other just about writes "a good season on the record books," this year it was Allegheny's turn to ring the bell, and if I am right about it, the victors saw-saw back and forth with regularity. No mistaking the fact that the Alleghenies earned that victory, but when one stops to think about it, Westminster should have at least tied the score. But, for an off-side play when Allegheny was trying for that extra-point, the Titans would have been dejected the battle. Then when the line for an extra-point on the end-around play after Shaffer's touchdown, and failed by about two feet, well, those are the breaks of the game, that's all.

Both Teams Good

It was a mighty struggle game to watch, both teams fought hard, the day was far too warm for football, but the boys played themselves out. Quite a bit of time was taken by injuries and players just falling down with the heat. The "Home-Coming Day" crowd at New Wilmington was a big one, and they did not begrudge the long tiresome rides that carried them back to the old school once more.

There is no mistaking the fact that Allegheny outplayed the Titans all the way through the first half, and came mighty close to scoring on several times, but the Westminster line held like steel when it was necessary to hold, and the repeated thrusts of Garbark and Varano at the line were halted when dangerous. In the first half the Crum coached team had seven first-downs to three for Westminster.

As said before the play was listless in the first half, with both sides waiting for a break that would put them in scoring position. Allegheny had the ball on the 19-yard line when the first quarter ended, and things looked bad for the Titans.

The second period got under way with Allegheny touchdown bent. Garbark made first-down by hitting the line for two yards. Balser was thrown for a 6 yard loss by Captain Boone. Anderson heaved a pass to Garbark for 7 yards. Haldy replaced Shaffer for Westminster. Westminster took the ball on down on their own 7 yard line. Failing to gain through the line the Titans punted, and when Allegheny found the going tough they punted and they kept this up all during the quarter. A lot of passes found their way into the air, and not very many of them were completed.

The most thrilling play of the quarter came just at the close when Garbark got loose for a 28 yard run that carried the ball to the 42-yard line.

Titans Open Up

Coach "Dike" Beede must have done something to those boys between halves, because if you ever witnessed a comeback you did when that third quarter started.

Perrin kicked off for Westminster to Boylean who was downed on the 41-yard line. Anderson elected to kick right away and Michaels got the ball was downed on the 7-yard line, and here's where the steam-roller tactics began. It was a beautiful sight to see those battered Titans push that old leather down the field, and how they marched just as proud as peacocks.

In High-Gear

Well here's how it happened, Hamas made five through the line and came right back on the next play and made it a first down. Michaels fell short one yard on another first and ten through the line. Michaels carried the ball again for a first down this time, and the ball rested on the Westminster 49-yard line. Hamas tore through tackle for 8 more yards and Hamas again hit center for two more yards to make it first down. Tweedy was stopped on the end-around play.

Michaels kicked, but the ball was blocked by Pichitino, and recovered by March for Allegheny on the Westminster 29-yard line. Here the Allegheny boys started a little parade of their own, that was to end in a touchdown. Varano a blister on the side of the Titans all afternoon tore around end for 5 yards. Varano made a yard through the line. Anderson made it first-down on the Westminster 29-yard line. Varano made eight more through the line. Garbark made it first-down on the 7 yard line. Cleland replaced Morrison for Westminster.

Garbark Tallies

Garbark was stopped cold. Garbark went through for 2 yards. The ball now repose nicely on the 5 yard line. Koczki threw Carano for a loss of several yards. Anderson passed to Garbark good for about 10 yards and the Allegheny fullback caught the ball unmoledsted over the line for a touchdown. The Titans were outside in the try for extra-point and it was awarded to the invaders. The score 7 to 0 in favor of Allegheny.

Knapp kicked off for Allegheny and Walter Koczki got the ball, and was hurt on the play. Armour replaced Koczki, and Haldy went in for Perrin at halfback. Shaffer went to quarter and Michaels went to fullback. Cebula was through the line for a 7 yard gain. Michaels blasted his way through for 12 yards. Hamas picked up 5 yards at tackle. Michaels made a first-down on the 34-yard line. Shaffer got a yard. Hamas was stopped. Hamas went through left-tackle for a nice gain to make it another first-down. The ball rested on the 24 yard line. Cebula got away for a nice gain and the ball belonged to Westminster on the 12 yard line, for another first down. Michaels went to the 6 yard line through center. Shaffer tallied just as the third quarter ended. The Titans tried to send Cebula through the line on an end-around play for the extra-point but he fell short about two feet of the goal line. Score, Allegheny 7, Westminster 6.

Haldy Runs 23 Yards

There wasn't much to that last quarter, except a run by Haldy after intercepting a pass which was good for 25 yards, it was a nice run by the Turtle Creek boy. Westminster drew a fifteen yard penalty that put in the fourth quarter. The teams exchanged the ball quite a few times on punts without either team gaining. They were playing careful ball in that final period.

Westminster did start another of those famous marches to the goal line in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter, but when they reached the 13 yard line they found a stiff Allegheny line ready to resist them, and they lost the ball on downs. Hamas and Shaffer did the bulk of the ball carrying to reach the 13 yard line. Both coaches sent quite a few subs into the game as the minutes grew slimmer. It was Allegheny's ball about mid-field when the game ended.

Very Good Game

In summarizing the game it is found that Westminster can boast of 15 first downs to twelve for the Allegheny team. The passes found Westminster completing 5 out of 11, while Allegheny heaved 11 and made good on four of them. The Titans won the most penalties if you can call penalties any good, the totals Westminster 55, Allegheny 50.

Let us say again that it was a great little battle, and well worth seeing. Garbark, Varano, Boylean and Morse looked good in the Allegheny lineup, while Shaffer, Hamas, Michaels, Boone, Cebula and Armour looked the best in the Titan lineup.

The summary:

Westminster 6. Allegheny 7.

Union Defeats Mercer 49 To 0

Jaworski, Augustyn, Monico And Zarembo Score Touchdowns In Lopsided Game

MERCER FAILS TO MAKE FIRST DOWN

Union high school football team ran up 49 points against Mercer high Saturday afternoon at Mercer and held the Mercers scoreless. Coach Boyd's strong Union team had things their own way in the four periods of battle. Jaworski and Augustyn had five touchdowns between them. Monico and Zarembo had one each.

Mercer high offered only feeble resistance to the Union team. The first touchdown was made by Augustyn, who went eight yards by the tally after Union had kicked off and recovered and started a parade to the goal posts. Zarembo did a lot of fancy stepping and raced 35 yards for the second touchdown. The first quarter ended Union 13, Mercer 0.

Jaworski Stars

The start of the second quarter found Union within the shadows of the goal line, and Jaworski soon had it over for the third touchdown. The half ended 22 to 0 in Union's favor. Coach Boyd sent his entire second team into the fray near the end of the period.

The Union first team trotted out again at the start of the third quarter and the boys began piling up points again, with Monico tallying on a play around end. Jaworski had the next touchdown to his credit.

Jaworski pulled the feature play of the game in the third quarter when he stepped through the center of the Mercer line for 50 yards and a touchdown. It was his third of the game.

When the game ended the Union team was on the way to another touchdown and the ball was on the 5-yard line. Mercer's light team was no match for Union. Mercer didn't have a first down.

Rochester High Wins Great Game

One New Castle High school football opponent won its game and another opponent tied in games played on Saturday afternoon. Turtle Creek Union who will be the attraction here against New Castle high on Thanksgiving Day held the strong Norwin High boys to a 6-6 tie in one of the best scholastic games in Western Pennsylvania.

Rochester High's great undefeated eleven who meets New Castle, October 31 here, made one of the greatest finishes it ever made in seasons to defeats Har-Brack High 19-13 and thus eliminating Har-Brack from the W. P. L. A. L. race and making the Rochester bid for the title a lusty one.

Rochester High scored 13 points in the final quarter to win and keep its slate clean for not only this season but last season. The Turtle Creek-Norwin game proved a thriller also with Turtle Creek scoring 13 tally in the second quarter after Norwin had crossed the goal line in the first quarter.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Em' Rocco, the Tarzan of the Connoquenessing will swap punches with Tom Heeey, Australian, tonight in a 10-round bout at the Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh. It will be the second indoor boxing show staged at the Garden.

Eddie Flick, junior lightweight of Oil City, will romp into action at Franklin, Pa., November 11, against Young Bovo, of Erie. Bovo holds a victory over Young Hazlett against whom Flick broke a hand. Flick has recovered all effects from appendix trouble.

Joey Goodman will meet Joey Kaufman of New York at Cleveland Tuesday night. Goodman should win from Kaufman. Goodman recently defeated Frankie Kid Brown at Youngstown and has fought Sammy Mandell, Benny Bass and Billy Wallace.

Joe Miday, local middleweight, is a fast boy in an auto. Recently he journeyed to White Haven, his native place, in 10 hours, entrained the same night and was back in training harness within 72 hours. Joe is anxious for a busy season.

Billy Arnold defeated Decon Litz Saturday at Altoona in two of three heats in a speed duel at Tipton bowl, Altoona. Litz was the last challenger for the national automobile racing championship. Arnold had defeated Litz in an abbreviated race at Altoona, Labor Day.

Tom McCafferty To Box Jack Tracey

Tom McCafferty, former local middleweight, now of Al Zill's crowd of mixers, will appear on the Rocco-Heeey card tonight at Pittsburgh. He is scheduled to box Jack Tracey, formerly of Louisville. McCafferty knocked out Al Becker at Pittsburgh recently.

Some Surprises In Saturday Scores

Football put on long pants Saturday afternoon. The synthetic contests of the previous weeks were abandoned, the big teams swung into action against other big teams and the real blow in the bottle, genuine three star football got under way, with some of the contenders falling by the wayside.

In the local field, always more interesting to the folks hereabouts than there were some nice games unrecorded, and some results not expected. Allegheny snaked out a 7-6 victory over Westminster College, and only the old time Methodist jinx which Allegheny seems to carry into Westminster games robbed the United Presbyterian of a win.

Geneva Beats Thiel

The rail birds had it that Thiel would beat Geneva this year, but the score proves they were wrong for the Covenanters turned in a 13-6 victory. Grove City didn't play Saturday having defeated Carroll on Friday night in Cleveland. Down in Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech stopped the Golden Tornado from Georgia Tech by a 31-0 score and there can be no alibis for a licking this impressive. The Tornado forgot to function or else the rigors of the "Newthen" weather were too much for the boys from Bobby Jones' home town. Pitt continued its string of setup victories, romped over Western Reserve 52-0.

In the Big Three, whatever that implies, Harvard defeated Springfield 27-0. Yale lost a close one to the University of Georgia, 18-14, and this despite Little Albie Booth, and Tuss McLaughry's Brown team walked off with a 7-0 win from Princeton. In the Yale-Georgia game the Southerners were out to make last year's victory stick and they did it through smart football.

Purdue Loses Hard One

In the Big Ten, dear old Michigan gladdened the hearts of the alumni when they pulled a game out of the fire from from Purdue 14-13. Purdue was supposed to have the game in the bag. Last year's conference champs they seemed to have little to fear from Mich., which had been held to a scoreless tie by Michigan State a week ago. Purdue scored 13 in the first period and the game seemed on ice. Then Michigan went to work.

Minnesota, thought to be weak, and defeated a week ago by Oklahoma, held Stanford to a 0-0 tie.

It was a remarkable football day, most too warm, but this weather isn't going to last, and neither are some of the teams that have thus far had little trouble. As the weeks go by it gets tougher and tougher and by the end of the month the teams that will be standing out will probably be Pitt-Notre Dame, Carnegie Tech, University of Georgia, Northwestern, and Washington State. Anyway it's a good guess.

Popular estimate of Hoover: "What a disappointment! He hasn't performed a single miracle."

Carnegie Eleven Defeats All Stars

Carnegie football team opened its 1930 grid activities on Saturday afternoon at the George Washington field with a victory, defeating the strong New Castle All Stars by a 19-0 score.

The entire Carnegie team looked good in the victory. Campoli, Richards, and Ross were the ground gainers for Carnegie. R. Brooks and Loudon were the best bets for All Stars.

On Wednesday afternoon on the Lee avenue field the Carnegie team will play the West Side Panthers.

The summary of the game Saturday follows:

Carnegie 19. All Stars 0.

Briggs L. E. DiGennaro

KERR-WESTLAKE SCORE TWICE

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 13.—Slippery Rock State Teachers College football team had a field day against Clarion on Saturday. The game played here resulted in a 50 to 0 victory for the local boys. It was "Home-Coming Day" and the dads and mothers found the Slippery Rock team displaying a lot of football.

The Slippery Rock team scored in every period. Clarion put up only feeble resistance to the attack, but their running attack was smothered by the big Slippery Rock linemen.

The first tally of the game came four minutes after the whistle started the game, with Westlake plunging over the line. Captain Ott was credited with the second touchdown on a blocked punt. The first quarter found Slippery Rock ahead 12 to 0. The only tally for the locals in the second quarter was made by Miller Kerr, former New Castle boy who raced 15 yards around end for a touchdown. The first half ended 18 to 0 in favor of Slippery Rock.

The Clarion team appeared quite tired after the second half started, and the Slippery Rock team piled up 32 more points, on touchdowns by Westlake, Martin, Pepper, Greiner and Kerr. Almost an entire substitute team took the field for the locals in the final quarter.

The summary:

Clarion 0. Slippery Rock 50.

Pension Bills Are Discussed

Considerable Damage To Machines Involved Is Reported To Police

FIREMEN- POLICE PROJECTS ARE UP

It is not necessary that a policeman have 20 years continuous service before he can enjoy the fruits of the pension system, should the proposed Treser ordinance be adopted by council, according to Solicitor White.

He made the foregoing statement when council convened today. It came following his report that he had prepared the draft of a bill which would grant pensions to city firemen.

After his report council deemed it advisable that the proposed firemen's measure not be introduced, pending a scrutiny of the bill and a thorough examination of the various angles of the various firemen's bodies.

"We should get rid of one pension bill first (meaning the police measure)," said Councilman Burns.

Not Settled

"The firemen's question isn't settled anyhow. There will be a lot to come on it," remarked Councilman Genkinger.

"The only way to get anywhere is to meet someone. The paid and volunteer departments should get together. As long as they think they are to get the 'gravy' they will not do anything," Solicitor White said.

"The young policemen are not satisfied with the police pension bill," reported Councilman Treser.

"The 'continuous service' part is what hurts," said Mayor Gillespie.

"The 'continuous service' part is only a detail. We can take that out," remarked Solicitor White.

Mayor Gillespie said that some men would have 20 years continuous service had it not been for their dismissal during a Socialist administration.

"The present council is not responsible for that," said Genkinger. Councilman Burns remarked that (continuous service) is in the Act of 1893, "and council cannot do anything else."

"I would remove that from the police bill," White, the solicitor stated.

"The act requires a minimum of 20 years continuous service," Burns replied.

Evaded Issue

"Oh, I got around that, Mr. Burns," replied Solicitor White.

He informed council that the Act of 1927 is identical to the Act of 1893, and that it says "may" and not "shall" in reference to service.

"I have evaded that regulation," White said.

He next stated that "if they take insurance he (a policeman) pays until he retires. It does not make any difference how long, White said."

At this point it developed that Councilman Genkinger is in favor of the insurance pension system, stating:

"I am only in favor of the insurance pension."

"You have to force the issue," White stated.

Burns said that he does not believe the 'insurance pension' is fair. He illustrated this by declaring:

"A man gets hurt, receives compensation for 500 weeks, then gets compensation from the insurance and the city pays it."

"If he gets insurance it will apply as his compensation," White answered.

"We have life insurance," Burns pointed out asking "Why should that be set off compensation?"

"This is insurance he gets by holding a certain position. I am satisfied the company might say 'You are in the service, drawing compensation,'" replied White. "If he gets well he returns to work. He has not retired. In that event I'm afraid the company would say 'You're not entitled to pension because you have not retired.'"

"If he says: 'I'm going to retire' receives the pension, then the compensation board will say that if he has been injured, unable to work he is entitled to compensation and pension so you must set off against the compensation."

"If he says: 'I'm going to retire, gets the pension. The compensation board will say that if he has been injured and unable to work he is entitled to compensation and pension so you must set off against the compensation."

"If he would say: 'I won't retire the city will be hooked. The insurance company does not pay for injury only for retirement. All he can draw is compensation unless he retires.'"

WHEN A JINX picks you out as a victim go after the jinx.

That seems to be the motto of Henry (Hank) Bruder, Northwestern's star halfback and captain. Last season Hank loomed as one of the outstanding Big Ten stars

But an injury in an early game put him in the sidelines and Mr. Jinx won the first round in his battle with Mr. Bruder.

This season, fit and sound in limb again, Bruder decided to go after his jinx. He picked out jersey No. 13 to wear in the Northwestern's games. Hank thinks he'll out-jinx his jinx with that number. And we're inclined to believe he will.

Almost Hundred Members In Club

Juvenile Library Borrowers Are Greatly Interested In The Blue Star Club

Spick, span and spotless are the children's books at the public library since the organization of the Blue Star club several weeks ago.

Membership in the club has grown by leaps and bounds until now it just lacks nine members to be a hundred. Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian, and Miss Alice Morrison, assistant librarian, have on file the membership cards—91 of them. Each time a member returns a book to the library in the same condition it was taken out, why, that calls for a check mark on the membership card. And when he has returned a certain number of books unscathed by fingerprints, raindrops or the molasses hands of the younger sister, then he is awarded a blue star.

Four members have already achieved their blue stars. The rest are enthusiastically striving for theirs.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

According to the banks, today is Columbus Day. According to the calendar it was yesterday. Anyway it's the season of the year when we pay a little homage to that intrepid Italian, Christopher Columbus who 438 years ago was welcomed by a delegation of Indians. Grover Whalen was not born then, which accounts for the Indians doing it.

Chris was looking for a new route to India when he stubbed the prow of his ship on the shores of the new country. All of which is like looking for your overalls and finding an evening suit.

If he could come back now and see what he discovered he might be a little surprised. When he was over here there weren't any arguments on prohibition, there weren't any ten thumb golf courses, a pedestrian had a chance crossing the street, and the stock market wasn't even in existence. These were some of the advantages in those days.

It's always been our opinion that Amerigo Vespucci horned in on the glory of the discovery when he had the country called America. It could have been Columbus as well as not, and the country today would be the United States of Columbus.

Of course there were other explorers who are supposed to have found their way to these shores, but they said little about it. Leif Ericson having landed at a spot in the Charles River, now known as Cambridge, Mass., about 1016. The Massachusetts Historical Society have a bronze tablet erected to the Dane, Ap Madoc, the son of a Welsh king is supposed to have come to these shores and then pushed on to what is now the Mississippi Valley, but nobody can prove it.

The thing about Columbus was that when he found a new country he didn't keep it a secret. He immediately got in touch with Queen

Isabella and said "Lizzy old girl, you have some new territory." Which proves that it pays to advertise. Chris believed in advertising and the others didn't.

As for Leif the Lucky's discovery, it is known for ten years a colony called "Vinland" existed on the New England coast, built by the Norseman and his followers. The Massachusetts Historical Society also has dug out the fact that he erected a cottage on a spot where now rests the bronze tablet.

That seems to be plenty for explorers and discoveries today. Columbus has a lot of cities and fraternal organizations named after him, which is about the usual fate of explorers. He also died in jail, but not for driving a motor vehicle in a reckless manner.

Down around the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing they claim to have a pure white pole cat. Not the usual black coated type, with a white stripe up the back, but white all over. And the nice part of it is that you can't argue the question. "The nose knows" according to Dean Staley, and he says it's a pole cat.

The proper name for them is really New Wilmington Panther, for up around the college town seems to be the headquarters for the order-ferocious pets.

Out at the poor farm, Perry Snyder has most of his crop in by now and you'd never know there had been a drought. The potatoes are full and juicy looking, and down stairs on the fruit shelves are long rows of quarts of berries put up by Mrs. Snyder.

Since the new farm has been opened we've been out at the house a number of times, always unannounced and have yet to find any dirt or dust or debris there. The place is kept as clean as a first class hotel. And you should see those potatoes.

Sunday afternoon was just another of those perfect days to spend out along the Slippery Rock and that's what was done. Right now is the time to go out if you really enjoy color. The dogwoods have turned scarlet, the maples are red and yellow and maroon, the beeches, the elms and the oaks are variegated, and the whole country side is a pastoral that couldn't be copied.

Out near the creek is the Shaffer farm where there are 400 turkeys eating themselves into a Thanksgiving mood. This is probably the largest flock of turkeys in this part of the country, and as you go by you can vision the turks six weeks from now.

A stranger wandered into the farm the other afternoon and one of the turkey hens tried to eat the buttons off his coat.

Wonder if we're going to have a Halloween parade in town this year. The South Side kids are already making their plans but thus far nothing has been done for the up-town celebration.

Government Must Remove Liquor Or Pay Fine Of $100

Pottsville Mayor Issues Warning To Federal Government About Storing Liquor

(International News Service) POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 13.—If any confiscated, inflammable liquor remains stored here tonight, the federal government will owe the city of Pottsville $100.

And it will cost the government $100 every additional day that liquor remains in the city.

That was the ultimatum issued by Mayor J. B. Dengler, after an explosion, said to have been caused by confiscated liquor, damaged a street and sewer, and damaged several buildings by fire late Saturday.

"The kind of liquor sold nowadays is as explosive as gasoline," mayor Dengler said in making known his intention to fine the government if it continues to store confiscated liquor here.

ACID STOMACH

THE FRANK FACTS ABOUT IT Lack of Knowledge Causing Much Needless Suffering

You doubtless know that acid stomach is the common cause of indigestion, heartburn, gas pains, dizziness, headaches, listlessness, etc. But do you realize that through faulty adjustment of the stomach, you are actually poisoning your body? The stomach is the factory where food is broken down into the building blocks of life. If this process is faulty, the result is acid stomach, which is the cause of many of our modern ailments.

At times, however, food ferments in the stomach. This causes excess acids—harmful ones. You begin to feel miserable. So you seek relief and all too often cause more harm. For ordinary remedies go too far. They not only neutralize the harmful excess acids, but they also neutralize the important acid of the gastric juices. The result—sub-acidity—too little acid. Digestion stops and again we suffer.

Rev. Margaret Joshua Thrills Audience

Sunday Rally Services In Croton Church Culminate In Special Evening Service

The climax of a perfect Rally day came in the Croton avenue Methodist church Sunday evening, when every available seat was taken as the congregation gathered to hear Rev. Margaret Joshua deliver an especially powerful sermon on "The Poor Man's Market." Not a sound could be heard as Mrs. Joshua spoke, the tremendous power of her sermon and the splendid oratory holding her hearers in rapt attention.

Especially pleasing to her hearers were the two solos sung by Mary Harvard, a sister of Sue Harvard and the choir had some excellent numbers, under the direction of Mrs. June Bernard, with Violet Schuler at the piano.

The Sabbath school service was attended by 605 members and visitors and at the meeting of the young people in the evening was attended by an enthusiastic group.
